Continue Farm Price Supports, LBJ Urges

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson told Congress today that farm price support programs should be continued and improved. He called for attention to other measures aimed at parity of opportunity for rural Americans.

In a special message, Johnson said the price programs, initiated 30 years ago in the administration of Franklin D. Roosevelt have helped create a commercially successful agriculture.

And over the past four years, he said, the price support programs have raised and sustained net farm income at an annual level of nearly a billion dollars above 1960.

"Few activities so dramatically indicate the value to farmers of good programs well-administered," Johnson wrote. "Yet the consumer is the major beneficiary of farm progress. While retail food prices have risen in recent years, the prices of what the farmer sells have actually declined 15 per cent since 1947-1949."

This, Johnson said, is what is needed to have parity of opportunity for rural Americans:

1. National economic prosperity to increase their employment opportunities.

2. Full access to education, training, and health services to expand their earning power.

3. Economic development of smaller and medium-size communities to insure a healthy economic base for rural America.

In recommending that present price support programs now in effect for major farm commodities be continued and improved, Johnson wrote:

"These programs can continue to serve our objectives of increased freedom of operation, a steady improvement of income, a greater reliance on market forces, and lower government costs."

Specifically Johnson advised Congress:

Wheat and feed grains — Voluntary feed grain and wheat programs should be extended. Specific recommendations will be submitted to Congress aimed to permit the operation of these programs to be simplified and make it possible for additional crops, particularly soy beans, to be grown as needed on acreage diverted from grains. Authority of the secretary of agriculture to set price support levels and to adjust other program features as conditions may require should be continued.

Johnson Asks None Be Denied Right of Vote

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, with direct allusion to Negro efforts to register in Alabama, urged all Americans today to join with him in expressing concern over the loss of any citizen's right to vote.

In a hurriedly announced news conference, the President said it is essential to the freedom of the nation that voting rights are secured for all citizens.

"I intend to see that right is secured," he said.

Johnson's session with reporters was conducted before live radio and television at the White House. It was his first such pre-announced news session since last July 24.

Continuing his volunteered remarks, the President urged that Congress leave him freedom to deal with the question of sales of surplus farm commodities to the United Arab Republic. The House voted a ban on such sales but the Senate Wednesday passed a milder version.

On possible exchange of visits with Soviet leaders, Johnson said he had no additional information to offer other than what he said Wednesday night — that he is very hopeful of visiting the Soviet Union this year. He said discussions had taken place between Russians and Americans, but that no details will be made public until something more tangible is established.

Responding to a question, Johnson said that in the light of newspaper interest "I might have made a mistake" in not sending Vice President Hubert H. Humphrey to represent the United States at the funeral of Sir Winston Churchill.

He said he had hoped to go himself if his physical condition permitted.

He said he had his staff contact former Presidents Harry S. Truman and Dwight D. Eisenhower in hopes they could accompany him. Truman was unable to go. Eisenhower accepted the invitation.

He said he had personally called Chief Justice Earl Warren and asked if he would go with him.

"I felt that with the former president, the chief justice, the distinguished ambassador of this country, that we had a good delegation and a high ranking delegation," Johnson went on. "I had no particular reason for not asking the vice president to go, although the vice president was addressing the delegates of 50 states on his new responsibilities in the field of civil rights."

Johnson was asked about the current Viet Nam situation. He said this country's position has not changed in its desire to help the Southeast Asia country.

Referring to McGee Bundy's present mission to South Viet Nam, Johnson said he was looking forward to a full exchange of views on the Viet Nam problem.

Johnson declined to speculate on the purposes of a Soviet delegation's visit to Hanoi, capital of North Viet Nam. He said this country would have to await developments.

Asked about a possible conference between South and North Vietnamese, and what would happen if the United States were asked to leave, Johnson said he would not want to speculate on what happens in this situation or that situation.

Tidal Waves Feared Along Pacific Coast

ANCHORAGE, Alaska (AP) — An earthquake, almost as powerful as a deadly one here last March 27, shook and rattled Alaska's Aleutian Island chain Wednesday night and touched off fears of tidal waves all around the Pacific.

But the powerful jolt at 12:06 a.m. Eastern Standard Time was centered in an unpopulated area. No casualties were reported. There were no reports of major damage.

And expected tidal waves which sent thousands fleeing from coastal areas down the coast to California, in Hawaii, and in Japan didn't materialize.

All alerts were called off after a series of swells fanned out around the ocean, and people returned to their homes and coastal maritime activities were resumed.

The quake and tidal waves last March killed more than 100 persons in Alaska and spread devastation around the state. Many other Pacific areas were hard hit.

The Alaska Defense Command here reported Wednesday night's tremor was centered in the Amchitka area, a small island community off near the end of the Aleutian chain.

A command spokesman said airplane taxiways and masonry buildings at Shemya Island Air Station, about 100 miles west of Amchitka, were cracked.

Extent of damage at Shemya and Amchitka were not available, military spokesman said. Other military installations in the Aleutians escaped damage, he reported.

Northern Japan apparently got the brunt of today's tidal waves, but no damage was reported.

In Crescent City, Calif., hard-hit by the tidal wave spawned by the quake last March, evacuation of low-lying areas was ordered. In San Francisco, police cleared the beaches but there was no general evacuation.

Residents of coastal areas in three Washington counties were evacuated, state civil defense headquarters at Olympia, Wash., reported.

At Eugene, Ore., Lane County sheriff's deputies said people along the Oregon Coast were being warned of the tidal-wave threat.

Slight wave action was reported in Sitka, Alaska, but otherwise the wave apparently passed up Alaska points, the 17th District Coast Guard Headquarters at Juneau said.

Maddox Ruling Promised in Next Few Days

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP) — A federal judge has promised to rule in the next few days on contempt charges brought against segregationist Les'cr Maddox by three Negroes who said they were refused service at his cafeteria.

Dist. Judge Frank A. Hooper took the case under consideration Wednesday at the end of a three-day hearing in a crowded courtroom.

Defense attorney Sidney Schell described Maddox as a sincere and honorable man confused by the meaning of the civil rights law.

"It's our duty to understand the man, a man confused by what the Congress of the United States has done and what the law is," said Schell.

Ward said murder indictments will be sought against all three youths. (AP Photofax)

Three Dropouts Admit Slaying

CHICAGO (AP) — "I beg you to forgive me for having failed you," the letter said. "I love you dearly and because of my love I failed you."

That was the beginning of a letter from Yvonne Del Vecchio to her son, George, in a juvenile home Wednesday. Del Vecchio, 16, Eugene Wasil, 17, and Joseph Varchetto, 16, are charged with murder and robbery.

Police say the three, all high school dropouts

George and from broken families, have admitted shooting and robbing Fred A. Christiansen, 66, while high on "goofballs" (pep pills) and liquor and needing money for more barbiturates. They took $11 from Christiansen who died a few minutes later in a hospital.

"We were laughing fit to die," police quoted Del Vecchio as saying. "We were hysterical. It was the (pep) pills that made us do it."

He and Varchetto were taken to a juvenile home because of their age. Wasil was lodged in jail. All three have police records.

Mrs. Del Vecchio's letter said: "Because I failed to do my duty toward you, you have killed a man. I hope that God can forgive both you and I for our mistakes. Make your peace with God, my son, and your burden shall be lightened."

"I will carry my failure to you as a cross."

Wasil's weeping mother, Frances, stood beside her son during a hearing in court Wednesday.

47,800 Killed In Traffic Mishaps in '64

CHICAGO (AP) — A record traffic accident toll of 47,800 lives and $8.2 billion in economic losses last year was reported by the National Safety Council today.

The council contended in its report that prevention techniques are being applied "in a half-hearted, haphazard manner" in too many areas.

The 1964 death total showed an increase of 10 per cent over the previous high of 43,564 recorded in 1963.

An estimated 1.7 million Americans suffered injuries that disabled them beyond the day of the accident.

"The tragic record for 1964 is a clear indication that we have failed to keep pace with the vast growth of our automobile population," Howard Pyle, council president, said in a statement.

"Fundamental prevention techniques are widely known, but in too many areas they are administered in a half-hearted, haphazard manner."

"From 1954 to 1961 a limited application of these techniques contributed to a reduction of traffic fatalities from 9.8 deaths per 100 million vehicle miles to 5.2, a reduction of 47 per cent."

Mrs. Del Vecchio, 32, said state psychiatrists had advised her three years ago to put George into an institution.

"They read from a report which said that some time — even without his realizing it — George might kill somebody," police quoted her as saying.

But she said she had heard bad reports of boys (correctional schools and didn't want her son sent to one.

Mrs. Del Vecchio put police onto the youths' trail. She reported Monday evening that George had been missing since Saturday night and that he had a gun. She showed officers a newspaper with an apartment advertisement circled. The youths were arrested at the apartment the next day.

Johnson Visit to Russia Planned

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Johnson, newly on record as very hopeful of visiting the Soviet Union this year, has initial backing from many senators — Democrats and Republicans.

Johnson pulled a surprise Wednesday night by hinting that such a journey already is tentatively in the works. And he coupled this with an equally firm expression of hope that the new Soviet leaders will visit the United States in 1965.

Some senators said Johnson's proposed trip might further ease East-West tensions and deserved approval. Some others said it certainly would do no harm.

105 Cadets Out In Academy Quiz

AIR FORCE ACADEMY, Colo. (AP) — Air Force Academy officials say they have ended the two-week investigation of classroom cheating which resulted in the resignations of 105 cadets for violating the academy honor code.

The officials, in statements Wednesday, defended the honor system and praised the more than 2,400 cadets cleared of any complicity in the theft or use of stolen examination questions.

Among the cadets who resigned were 40 athletes, including 29 football players. Warren said 20 would have been candidates for this year's varsity. It normally numbers 45 to 50.

Ninety cadets resigned in a 1951 investigation of honor code violations at the U.S. Military Academy at West Point, including 43 football players.

Questions of whether academic and extracurricular demands on cadets are excessive, and whether the code is too rigid, remain to be answered by a special committee headed by Gen. Thomas D. White, former Air Force chief of staff.

Parents of some of the cadets who resigned have questioned the code.

Warren said only cadets involved in the theft, sale or illegal use of examination questions were asked to resign. He said "other than honorable" discharges would be recommended for those who stole or sold examination papers, and honorable discharges for those who only used the material. The academy has refused to identify any of the cadets.

Secretary Eugene M. Zuckert of the Air Force will personally review each case before final disposition.

DEAR ABBY:

He Checks His Bills Carefully

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: My husband has a "thing" about money. He's not stingy or anything like that. In fact, he is very generous, but this is what I mean: He likes to play gin rummy, but if he doesn't keep the score he goes over the figures to make sure there are no mistakes. When we dine out, he never pays the check without going over it very carefully. He always counts his change no matter how long the line is. Abby, he is not a poor man. In fact, he owns his own business. He's a self-made man who started with nothing and has worked hard for what he has, and he's done very well. But it is embarrassing to have a husband who gives the impression that everyone is out to cheat him.

HIS WIFE

DEAR WIFE: I admire your husband. No honest person resents having the figures checked. He welcomes it. And anyone who pays a bill without going over it, is foolish. "Change-counters" are appreciated in every reliable place of business. (The cashier doesn't enjoy staying late to figure out why she's 30 cents short.) Don't be embarrassed.

ABBY

DEAR ABBY: I am a newcomer in town. I recently met a rather attractive, middle-aged single woman briefly at a party. We exchanged a few words and I got the feeling that she liked me. (A man can usually tell those things.) Yesterday she telephoned me at my office and invited me to what I am sure will be a very elegant party, and I accepted with pleasure. After I hung up I realized that she had made no mention of my wife. I'm not sure she knows I am married. Would it be improper of me simply to bring my wife? Or should I call her and ask if my wife is welcome? What if she thought I was unmarried and expected me to be her escort? She is one of the leading socialites in town and I wouldn't want to do the wrong thing.

IN A QUANDARY

DEAR IN: Call the woman and ask if the invitation includes your wife, suggesting that perhaps she did not know you were married. If she is a lady, she'll include your Mrs. — but don't count on it. I have a hunch she knew you were married when she invited you — alone.

DEAR ABBY: It so happens that I dislike mashed potatoes so, when I am served mashed potatoes, I always mix them with something else so I can get them down. Is this considered bad manners?

A very educated lady who thinks she is better than anyone else recently said to me, when she saw me mixing my mashed potatoes with stewed tomatoes and peas (which I also mashed), "Will you kindly refrain from mixing up your food that way — it is positively nauseating!"

I am awaiting your opinion of (a) my table manners . . . (b) her rudeness. Sincerely,

BURNING IN SALT LAKE CITY

DEAR BURNING: If you'll just skip the mashed potatoes, you won't invite rudeness (or nausea) in others.

DEAR ABBY: I recently read in your column a letter from a woman blaming the shoe industry for making shoes that are ruining the women's feet.

If women don't know enough to buy shoes that fit, it isn't the shoe manufacturers' fault. They make shoes in every size and style. As for the pointed-toe shoes of today, if women would buy the right size, they wouldn't have any trouble.

Russ Release U.S. Student In Auto Death

MOSCOW (AP) — Peter Landerman, an American student jailed for the death of a Soviet in an auto accident, was released today after serving 16 months of a 3-year sentence, an American Embassy spokesman announced.

The spokesman said the president of the Supreme Soviet reviewed Landerman's case and decided to release him "on humanitarian grounds."

Landerman, 24, of Riverside, Calif., was turned over to an official of the embassy's consular section at noon today. He will fly to New York Friday.

A former student at the University of California, Landerman was sentenced on Sept. 27, 1963, after a four-day trial.

He was driving a car filled with American students when he hit a Soviet pedestrian near Minsk on Aug. 15, 1963.

Landerman told the court the man was pushing a motorcycle along the road and that there were no lights on the motorcycle. He said lights from oncoming traffic temporarily blinded him.

American officials had not been informed where Landerman was serving his term, but

Honeywell Sales, Earnings at Peak

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — Honeywell, Inc., Wednesday reported record high sales and earnings for 1964 on the basis of a preliminary unaudited report. Earnings for the year were $41,389,166, about 19 per cent greater than the previous year and equivalent to $2.89 a common share on 14,060,886 shares outstanding. Earnings in 1963 were $3,669,623 or $2.41 a share. Sales for 1964 increased 3 per cent to $667,193,406, compared with $648,481,914 in 1963.

Paul B. Wishart, board chairman, said sales increased in all major areas except the military and space field where volume declined as anticipated because of reduced government procurement.

Last Dec. 23, he was brought to Moscow and permitted to visit one hour with James A. Klemstine, consul at the U.S. Embassy in Moscow.

WSC Women's Dorms Raided

From 60 to 100 "unidentified males" invaded three Winona State College women's dormitories Wednesday night after disabling the switchboard at Morey Hall.

The masked and gloved intruders moved with disciplined speed to their first objective, Conway Hall, about 7:30 p.m. Here, they started on the fourth floor of the dormitory and worked their way through the halls, entering each room and grabbing whatever objects were available.

ONE GIRL, living on the fourth floor of Conway Hall, was injured when she fought off men trying to rip an article of clothing from her person.

COLLEGE Personnel Director M. L. Mariner said that as of this noon this was the only injury known to college officials. However, a person-by-person survey was under way. The one girl's injuries apparently were confined to bruises; however, she was referred to the college's health service for an examination.

He refused to identify her until an investigation being conducted by college officials and city police is completed.

Mariner confirmed that there "has been some personal property loss." Reportedly, pajamas, underwear, cosmetic bottles and books were among the intruders' loot.

He said that the faculty's student citizenship committee would begin a formal investigation early this afternoon. Interviews were under way with victims of the raid and with male students at the college believed to have been among the participants.

ASSISTANT POLICE Chief Marvin A. Meier said that two detectives from his department were investigating the incident in cooperation with college officials.

The raiders moved from Conway to Shepard Hall where they repeated their pattern, working down from the upper floors. Apparently, spreading of the alarm and growing fear on the part of the men involved led to the intruders' merely running down hallways in a third women's dorm, Richards Hall.

By this time, most girls had locked their doors. The "invaders" had dispersed by 7:45 p.m., and police arrived to find no one about, according to Chief Meier. His department's investigation did not begin until a second call was received from the college, today, Meier said.

COLLEGE President Dr. Nels Minne said, "It isn't clear yet" just what happened. He said that college officials including Mariner and the deans of men and women are investigating the incident. They began their check Wednesday night, shortly after the "raid," Dr. Minne said.

A dorm counselor said that the raid was carried out at just the right time, while most resident counselors were attending night classes. The intruders allegedly assembled on the football practice field and, moving at hand and whistled signals from one or more leaders, proceeded to Morey Hall, where they effectively disabled the college communication system for a short while.

STUDENTS emphasized that the raid was not a free-for-all. It was obviously well-planned by a recruited group of men.

Mariner said that 322 women lived in the three dormitories during the fall quarter. He said, "The college staff responded pretty effectively to restore order," with the assistance of local authorities.

No one was taken into custody either Wednesday night or this morning to his knowledge, Mariner said. "There has been some personal property loss," Mariner admitted. The extent of loss is also being investigated.

Barn and Cattle Burn at Mondovi

MONDOVI, Wis. (Special) — A large dairy barn and 31 head of cattle were destroyed by fire early Wednesday morning on the O. D. Mikesell farm in Town of Albany, Pepin County.

The farm is five miles north of Mondovi on County Trunk H.

Lost in the blaze were 17 Jersey milk cows, five 2-year-old heifers, 2 bulls and 7 calves. Five head escaped.

There were 60 or 70 tons of hay in the mow. Also destroyed were several pieces of machinery stored in a lean-to attached to the barn. They included an elevator, grain drill, wagon and rot-mower.

The 34-by-66-foot building was all ablaze when discovered by Mrs. Eugene Gruber, a farm neighbor, about 5:30 a.m. She alerted Mondovi firemen who were joined by Durand firemen. They fought the blaze two hours in temperatures 16 degrees below zero.

Harley Mikesell, son of O. D. Mikesell, was owner of the cattle and machinery. He lives on a nearby farm and operates his father's place.

JUST IN TIME

NEW YORK (AP) — Two men willingly helped a driver push his stalled car from a deserted Lower East Side intersection. Then two policemen arrived and started to help out, but then realized the car was stolen. They arrested the driver on a charge of grand larceny.

When the case was placed on District Court's calendar, it was estimated by the attorneys that it would take two days. Thus, Judge Hatfield had scheduled work for himself in Caledonia this morning and other work for the rest of the week.

TESTIMONY by plaintiff V. A. Bohr, Scottsdale, Ariz., as it turned out, took the two days since the trial began Monday and a day more as well. Bohr will resume the stand for cross-examination Monday at 1:30 p.m.

Wednesday afternoon, Bohr completed his lengthy testimony on direct examination by Attorney William A. Lindquist by setting his loss at $9,168. The loss was sustained, Bohr told the court, because King Gas & Fertilizer Co., Lewiston, had not properly maintained fertilizer equipment leased from Bohr in 1959.

Defendant's attorney William E. Crowder objected to two of the items on Bohr's list of improperly maintained equipment. Judge Hatfield sustained the objection, and the alleged loss was reduced to $8,798.

ATTORNEY Crowder began examination of Bohr on the subject of company names. (Bohr alleges that King Gas painted its name in large letters on much of the equipment returned to him.) Bohr said that he is not aware that a name is important in developing and operating a business. He had the name "Philgas" on just about all his equipment before leasing it to King Gas, Bohr testified. The name of his firm was Minnesota Butane & Equipment Co.

Bohr said he didn't know whether the lease agreement mentions names or the removal of names, or not. He didn't remove any names from equipment before turning it over to King Gas, Bohr testified.

Crowder asked whether some of Minnesota Butane's equipment was in the hands of farmers at the time of the lease signing, June 17, 1959. Bohr answered that some undoubtedly

Watkins Home Work Started

Plans for a special care unit were approved by directors of Paul Watkins Memorial Home at a Wednesday luncheon meeting.

Contractors are now at work on the fourth floor remodeling project whose total costs are estimated at more than $22,000. Funds for the project were made available from the estate of the late R. H. Watkins.

The new unit will occupy the top floor of Florence Hall, the new west wing of the retirement home. The 19 rooms will be arranged to accommodate up to 21 persons who need extra care. Special facilities will be incorporated into the design, including such things as shower baths for persons confined to wheelchairs. Mealtime tray service will be available to residents and the unit will have its own nursing station.

Any Regulation of Business Bad, Chamber Speaker Says

By GEORGE MCCORMICK
Daily News Staff Writer

A former president of the National Association of Manufacturers denounced any regulation of business at Wednesday night's annual Winona Chamber of Commerce dinner meeting.

William J. Grede, chairman of the board of Grede Foundries, Inc., Milwaukee, condemned government regulation of the economy, the income tax, businessmen who think of the public rather than of their shareholders and the creeping socialism of which the rest is symptomatic.

HE CALLED for a free market run by individuals committed to independent action.

"This is the story of America," Grede said. "More and better and cheaper products for more people."

Americans must become committed to these principles, he said, then must actively advocate them whenever possible.

"I'd suggest you be an extremist," Grede said. "I'd suggest you be a free market, and if we are to remain free, we must develop individuals of self-reliance and character."

Chamber Unit Asks Sales Tax In Minnesota

A policy statement supporting a sales tax in Minnesota was approved by the governmental affairs committee of the Winona Chamber of Commerce Tuesday.

The group called for a sales tax that would eliminate the personal property tax levy and ease real estate taxes, provide additional money for local government and avoid income tax increases.

THE RESOLUTION suggested no sales tax rate, reflecting the committee's stated feeling that this must be determined when state and local demands are considered.

In a companion resolution, the group opposed reinstatement of the household goods tax in Winona County, calling it outmoded, inefficient and unfair.

The committee, led by Chairman Robert C. Olson, urged tax reform in the state. Members indicated a belief that businessmen and farmers should not pay taxes on machines and equipment.

Tax reform would result in a better job climate here, and it would bring greater prosperity to the state and its people, the committee concluded.

OTHER BUSINESS included: Approving plans for a "Report to the People" meeting with county legislators Feb. 13.

• Making preliminary plans to sponsor a bus trip to take Winonans to St. Paul to visit the legislature later in the current session.

• Hearing a report by S. J. Pettersen on the findings of the legislature's interim tax study commission, which held one of its public hearings here last February.

• Making plans to attend the leadership forum of the United States Chamber of Commerce, to be held in Sioux Falls, S.D., next Thursday.

mer & Toye, electrical contractor is Bauer Electric Co. Additions to the intercommunications system will be constructed by Edward Mahlke.

Present at the board meeting Wednesday was Dr. Edward W. Foote, Rochester, superintendent of the Southeast Minnesota Methodist District.

He defined a free market as "that area where free people make free choices."

INDEPENDENCE from government regulation is an important criterion, Grede asserted. Speaking of the individual, he said, "When we increase his dependence on government we destroy his freedom and the free market."

An unregulated market, subject only to the law of supply and demand and the law of diminishing returns — what Grede called "the arithmetic of economics" — would allow businessmen to produce better goods more cheaply. The consumer would benefit while the businessman received a higher profit, he said.

"What's good for business is good for all the people," Grede asserted.

He contended that no firm could make too high a profit. "The company that makes 'too much profit' gives the customer the most for his money," he maintained.

TAKING A swipe at education today, Grede said he learned economics in high

Lanesboro Street Sign Plan OKed

LANESBORO, Minn. (Special) — Duane Thompson, president of the Lanesboro Junior Chamber of Commerce, said the street sign project, sponsored by the Jaycees and 17 community organizations, has been approved by the village council.

They plan to install about 40 signs this spring. Jaycees plan a donkey basketball game Feb. 27 at community hall.

St. Stanislaus Pupils Attend School Saturdays

An early spring dismissal of classes at St. Stanislaus School is planned to facilitate the projected school building program expected to begin sometime early this spring. Saturday school has resulted.

Classes for students in kindergarten through eighth grades are scheduled for dismissal May 1 to allow for razing of the grade school building to provide a site for one section of the new structure.

Houses and garages on property at East 5th and Zumbro street are being removed in preparation of a site for the section which will house first through fourth grade classes and which is expected to be ready for occupancy at the beginning of the fall term.

In anticipation of the early spring dismissal, classes are being conducted on an accelerated schedule.

The school day has been lengthened somewhat — running from 8 to 11:15 a.m. and 12:30 to 3:20 p.m. — students attending school on Saturdays from 8 a.m. to noon and usual free days and Holy Day dismissals have been eliminated.

There also was a shortening of the Christmas vacation period.

Hospital Tells How to Respond To Emergencies

Better public understanding of emergency room uses is the objective of 8,000 brochures mailed this week by Community Memorial Hospital.

All Winona postal patrons were sent the instructional folders, the hospital administrator, E. W. Hagberg, said.

When a person is faced with an emergency, the first thing to do is call the family physician, the hospital advises. There are no resident physicians at the hospital, a fact of which many persons are unaware, Hagberg said.

If the individual cannot reach his own physician, friends or family should do so, the folder advises. And the hospital should be notified in advance of the patient's arrival, if possible. When the person's own physician is not available, the hospital will supply its own on-call staff member.

Calls for ambulances should be placed directly to the ambulance service since the hospital does not furnish its own, the folder notes. Persons arriving at the south side emergency entrance should go directly inside and summon assistance by using wall phone if no nurse is on hand.

In cases of severe bleeding, burns, choking or suffocation, patients should be taken immediately to the hospital, the booklet advises, and notification should be left to others, if possible.

Blair Lions Host To Area Members At Independence

BLAIR, Wis. (Special) — Blair Lions were hosts recently at a meeting of Lions clubs in District 27-E at an Independence dining spot.

Lions from Blair, Whitehall, Pigeon Falls, Independence and Black River Falls were present and a representative of each reported.

E. L. Friede, president of the Blair club, was master of ceremonies. Some 70 Lions were present.

school — "before basket-weaving and the social studies crowded economics out."

He is concerned today, however, with the "economic illiteracy" shown even by some businessmen. He declared that if such men as sociologists, teachers and clergymen were not economically naive, they would not be taken in by what he termed socialism.

"I don't think a man should graduate from any college unless he's had at least one semester of the arithmetic of economics," the speaker said.

AFTER ATTACKING last year's tax cut — contending that taxes are supposed to raise revenue, not to stimulate the economy — Grede turned to the income tax law itself.

"The federal income tax legislation that's now on our books is the most regulatory legislation on the books—and, incidentally, the most socialistic," the speaker maintained.

"The politicians have been using the income tax law... not to raise revenue, but rather to regulate," he said.

"This is socialism," Grede declared, "and it's so creeping we don't even realize it."

All regulation hinders the economy, the speaker said. He singled out for attack such regulatory practices as price and rent control in effect during and after World War II.

HE ATTACKED, too, businessmen who felt they had a public trust to keep prices — and, thus, profits, down. He told of talking to the president of a steel company after the war, and of asking him why he did not raise the price of pig iron he sold to Grede's foundries.

If the steel firm would raise its prices $5 a ton, Grede said he told the company president, "I'll get $15 a ton from my customers."

"We're entitled to as much profit as anyone is willing to pay us," Grede told his capacity audience of chamber members.

"We do have a moral obligation to make the most profit we can," he asserted.

Freedom, Grede maintained, is neither political nor economic in origin, but rather is a "religious discovery." He said that the individual person is important, and added that Christ said so, too.

THAT MAN has a soul and is a child of God, Grede said, is best illustrated in America, where — when the market was free — "we've built more churches and schools than anywhere else in the world."

Declaring that a welfare state will "dissipate our talents" and destroy morality, the speaker said, "Let's discard our government crutches."

He urged his listeners to reject the next government program offered to them, citing an urban renewal program as an example.

Ironically, shortly before this, William F. Lang, new chamber president, had urged the audience to support the federal urban renewal project proposed for Winona.

America is threatened by collectivism, Grede argued, and its citizens must try to preserve individualism.

"I'm not opposed to democracy when it describes what we've got in America," the speaker assured his audience. He went on to say, however, that he was against democracy as defined in a dictionary — majority rule.

Grede called his speech a refresher course in the American heritage.

BEFORE Grede spoke, Arnold E. Stoa, outgoing chamber president, reviewed the group's accomplishments during 1962. He then installed Lang as new president.

Dr. M. L. DeBolt was master of ceremonies, and the invocation was given by the Rt. Rev. Msgr. J. Richard Felten, director of Catholic Charities for the diocese of Winona.

Miami Beach 'Action Capital'

By EARL WILSON

MIAMI BEACH — The team-up of Frank Sinatra and Joe E. Lewis in an act here at "The Roc" — as the hipsters refer to the Eden Roc Hotel — has made Miami Beach the "action capital" of this hemisphere.

With real diamonds, their own fast boats and $50 tips, they're all here in the biggest dress parade since the inaugural. Names varying from Liz Whitney to Leo Durocher, and the N. Y. Yankees' Joe Pepitone to Harold Gibbons of the Teamsters Union and 79-year-old Swift Morgan are adding excitement to a city already as filled up as Joe E. Lewis gets frequently.

Eichmann Aide Gets 5 Years For War Crimes

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — A German war crimes court Wednesday sentenced Adolph Eichmann's top aide, Hermann Krumey, to five years at hard labor for complicity in the murder of at least 300,000 Hungarian Jews.

His codefendant, former SS Capt. Otto Hunsche, was acquitted.

After an often stormy trial that lasted more than nine months, Krumey was found guilty of participating in the 1944 deportation of 437,000 Hungarian Jews to the Auschwitz concentration camp where the majority of them were gassed. He was acquitted of a supplementary charge of extortion.

Krumey, 60, an ex-SS lieutenant colonel and Eichmann's deputy, once offered to trade the Western allies one million Hungarian Jews in return for 10,000 trucks. His offer was rejected.

Hunsche, 54, an ex-Nazi officer and Gestapo agent, was liaison officer between Eichmann's special bureau "for the final solution of the Jewish question" and the Hungarian regime of Admiral Horthy.

The state prosecutor had asked for life in prison for both men. Western Germany has no death penalty.

Forgotten Boats
A drive around the various boat harbors in the Winona area and along the highways bordering the river shows the usual number of "forgotten boats". Most of them are fishing boats, some frozen in the ice, others beneath a snow drift, but most of them have been hauled up above the high water mark and just turned over.

The owner of the boat pictured above apparently decided a little snow would be good for its upholstery and interior machinery. Anyway, the runabout stands on a dock in the Winona Marina. We noticed, too, the doors of several boathouses apparently have been whipped off by the wind, allowing snow to stack up in the boathouse. It probably would be smart to make a check of your boathouse.

Fish Still Safe
Oxygen test made of the water below the surface of the 14-inch ice on Lake Winona Tuesday showed that the lake was still safe for fish life but approaching the hazardous point, according to M. J. Bambeck, park-recreation director. A series of drillings were made above and below the Huff street dike to collect water samples.

Two tests made about one block west of the Huff street dike showed 6.5 to 7 parts oxygen to a million parts. The deadline for most fish is two parts to a million.

In four tests made in the lower half of the lake below the Huff street dike, from a block below the roadway to points opposite Franklin street, the average was four parts to a million parts.

Park board plows are being used to clear some strips in the foot-deep snow to let some sunlight to the ice. Whether sufficient sun rays will penetrate the ice to benefit conditions is questionable.

State fisheries officials have predicted a heavy winter kill of fish and have opened up more than 200 shallow lakes to wide open fishing to date. Many more are expected to be opened in an attempt to rescue and save fish, it is indicated.

Shields Approves Spear
The State Conservation Department cannot support a ban on the spearing of northern pike in Minnesota.

This was the substance of a statement by James T. Shields, director of game and fish, at a hearing before the Senate Game and Fish Committee.

The committee listened to supporters and opponents of a bill by Sen. Mel Hansen of Minneapolis which would outlaw darkroom spearing of northern pike.

Shields said if the department had the power to set seasons it would not prohibit spearing of northern pike.

He contended that anglers who fish specifically for northern pike do so as well as spears. He added that a departmental study showed that spear fishermen produce about 10 percent of the total fishing pressure, but take home 15 percent of the northern poundage.

Resorters and sportsmen claimed that Minnesota is permitting spearing residents to take the "trophy" northern instead of leaving them in lakes to attract tourists.

Jim Fladebo, a bait maker at Isle, said the state is getting bad publicity at travel shows because of spearing. He said outdoor writers joke about Minnesota permitting the taking of fish with "pitchforks."

Cliff Roland, an Onamia resorter, told the committee "the tourists are going right on to Canada" because northern fishing is poor in the state.

Hansen said in support of his bill that nonresident licenses are falling off. But Shields testified while individual license sales have dropped, the combination license for nonresidents have been increasing, and nonresident fishermen are more and more angling in Minnesota.

Bundy Tells Viet Nam War Will Continue

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — President Johnson's aides began a round of conferences today after pledging to the Vietnamese people that the United States remains committed to the war here against communism.

"I can tell you plainly that the United States remains determined to work in partnership with you for the defeat of these aggressors," said presidential aide McGeorge Bundy in a statement on his arrival.

Bundy, Johnson's foreign policy adviser, arrived today on a three-day fact-finding trip on Viet Nam's political strife and war against the Communist Viet Cong.

Even as he spoke, however, Buddhist and other pressure groups threatened new antigovernment demonstrations next week. The Lunar New Year holiday had brought a lull in the guerrilla war and religious disorders.

In addition to conferences with top U.S. officials in Saigon, Bundy also was expected to confer with strongman Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh and other Vietnamese officials. Other members of the President's mission included Leonard Unger, chief of the interagency task force on Viet Nam, and John McNaughton, assistant secretary of defense for security affairs.

Bundy said the visit was not related to Soviet Premier Alexei N. Kosygin's trip today to Communist North Viet Nam.

Bigger House Senate Asked In State Bill

ST. PAUL (AP) — Another plan to reapportion the state has been offered to the legislature.

The proposal, presented by Rep. Walter Klaus, Farmington Conservative, would increase the Senate membership from 67 to 69, and the House from 135 to 138.

Klaus said Wednesday he will draw up a bill, implementing the plan, and hoped to find co-authors.

One other plan, the first to be introduced, was authored by Sen. Donald Sinclair of Stephen, and Sen. Gordon Rosenmeier of Little Falls. It holds the Senate membership at 67, and reduces House to 134 members. It will have its first hearing Tuesday before the Senate Elections Committee.

Another plan has been proposed by the Governor's Reapportionment Advisory Commission. It does not change the membership of either house.

A federal district court ordered the legislature to reapportion districts because the present alignment does not fairly represent population centers.

Klaus said he will introduce his reapportionment bill later in the session. He said he made his proposal public now to stimulate discussion. He is a member of the House Reapportionment Committee.

A DFL group with representatives from both houses met Wednesday to start work in their own reapportionment plan. The party is in the minority in both houses.

Also on the elections scene, the House Elections Committee approved a bill to have the governor and lieutenant governor run as a team. This is a constitutional amendment requiring voter approval if it gets through both houses.

Rep. Martin Sabo, Minneapolis Liberal, introduced the perennial bill to have legislators run with party designation.

Fifth House Liberals sent a letter to the Minnesota congressional delegation asking Congress to consider minimum standards for unemployment compensation laws in the states.

The Liberals said "repeated failure" of the Minnesota Legislature to act has left the jobless benefit fund "close to insolvency," and said Minnesota benefits are below the needs of unemployed workers. The group said similar situations exist in other states.

The head of the House Highway Committee, Rep. August Mueller of Arlington, named a 9-member subcommittee to work over the five bill-board control bills introduced thus far. Some of the bills would restrict billboards on interstate highways only, others would provide for scenic, billboard-free areas throughout the state.

New bills introduced Wednesday would:

— Impose a mandatory 90-day jail term if a driver were convicted of both drunk driving and driving after revocation of his license.

— Appropriate $150,000 to the Duluth Port Authority for promotion of Great Lakes trade.

A pay adjustment plan for state employees estimated to require an additional $13.7 million in state appropriations for the next two years was outlined at a meeting of the Senate Finance Committee Wednesday.

Of the total, $8.9 million would provide pay raises averaging four to five per cent for state employees under civil service, workers in the unclassified service whose pay is tied to civil service ranges and employees of the University of Minnesota, other than faculty.

Another $4.7 million would be allotted for merit increases during the next two years.

Rolvag Says Quigley Will Be Reappointed

ST. PAUL (AP) — Stephen Quigley, whose term as state commissioner of administration expired Sunday, will be reappointed, Gov. Karl F. Rolvag said Wednesday.

Seven other posts are to be filled, and most likely the office holders will be reappointed. Quigley, 44, was a research chemist before accepting the governor's appointment May 28 1963.

Panama May Go It Alone On New Canal

PANAMA (AP) — Panama may go it alone and build a sea-level isthmian canal by borrowing from institutions such as the World Bank, Foreign Minister Fernando Eleita says.

The possibility of such an undertaking would be contingent, he said, on determination that excavation by nuclear methods would be feasible. Even so, the cost would be $600 million to $700 million.

Eleita discussed with newsmen Tuesday his talks this week with U.S. Undersecretary of State Thomas C. Mann. Mann has been visiting the four countries under consideration by the United States as sites for a sea-level waterway replacing the Panama Canal.

The foreign minister did not rule out U.S. construction of the new canal in Panama.

It was considered possible Eleita made the go-it-alone suggestion to strengthen Panama's hand in negotiations with the United States to revise the 1903 Panama Canal treaty. Similarly, many Panamanians feel the most feasible route for a new canal is across Panama and that Washington has proposed the other routes to bolster its position in the treaty talks.

Eleita said he was sure private financing could be obtained and that a sea-level canal would be self-financing through tollage revenues.

Fruit Wasting Because of Labor Shortage

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — Millions of dollars worth of citrus, vegetables and sugar cane are turning to garbage under the Florida sun, and farm leaders say the cause is a labor shortage created by the federal government.

For 20 years, Florida's crops were harvested largely by labor imported from the British West Indies and the Bahamas. But this source was cut off last year when Congress refused to extend the act governing use of migrant farm workers from abroad.

The supply of Mexican laborers to California, where they long had been used to harvest fruit and vegetable crops, also was cut off. The California Department of Labor has launched a crash program to recruit domestic workers, but a department official said Wednesday "we're not getting them fast enough." Lemon and date growers say they stand to lose millions of dollars because of the labor shortage.

In an attempt to attract American farm workers, Secretary of Labor W. Willard Wirtz set minimum wage scales ranging from $1.15 to $1.40 an hour.

Assessor Not Decided on Resigning Yet

BRAINERD, Minn. (AP) — Crow Wing County's controversial assessor, Harold Martinson, now says "my mind is not made up" about resigning.

Martinson said Tuesday he would quit, as requested by the Board of County Commissioners, which contends he recommended a 10 per cent across-the-board real property valuation increase to State Tax Commissioner Rolland Hatfield.

But Martinson issued a statement Wednesday saying "a great many people" had told him it would not be in the county's best interest for him to quit.

And he pointed out that the commissioners, who hired him, could not fire him. He could be removed only on a charge preferred by Hatfield and then after a hearing. This was confirmed by County Atty. Carl E. Erickson.

Arrests Up to 2,300 at Selma

SELMA, Ala. (AP) — Arrests have mounted to more than 2,300 in an expanding Negro voter drive aimed at shattering the white political monopoly in rural Alabama.

Negroes planned more marches today in Selma, where Dr. Martin Luther King Jr., is in jail, and in Marion, a small town 30 miles to the west.

Nearly 800 demonstrators were jailed Wednesday in Selma and Marion. The swelling numbers forced authorities to house prisoners at a state prison camp near here and a jail in Thomas, Ala.

Negro students released from custody said Wednesday night they were kept in unheated and unlighted cells. Police denied this.

Kosygin on Way to Hanoi

MOSCOW (AP) — Premier Alexei N. Kosygin flew toward Hanoi today where he is expected to discuss Soviet military aid to Communist North Viet Nam, which nourishes the Viet Cong in the fight against the Saigon government to the south.

He planned to stop in Peking on his way to the North Vietnamese capital and again on his trip back to Moscow. It will be the first visit to Red China by a Soviet premier since Nikita S. Khrushchev stopped there in 1959 on his way back from talks with former President Dwight D. Eisenhower in the United States.

The Chinese Embassy in Moscow boycotted Kosygin's airport departure. Under normal diplomatic protocol the Chinese envoys would be expected to see him off. His trip to North Viet Nam has strong overtones of a challenge to Peking's influence in Hanoi.

Kosygin's departure came shortly after President Johnson disclosed in Washington that the new Soviet leaders would welcome his visit to the Soviet Union and are likely to visit the United States themselves.

Still other Alabama cities and towns are targets in the massive campaign which King started 17 days ago to dramatize the voter registration effort in counties where Negroes outnumber white residents but comprise only a fractional part of the voting strength.

U. S. District Judge Daniel H. Thomas of Mobile turned down a request by King's forces to compel the Dallas County Board of Registrars to meet more often.

The board has scheduled sessions for two days this month. Thomas also Wednesday refused to prohibit city police from interfering with demonstrations under a parade ordinance.

King was arrested Monday for parading without a permit.

Cattle, Hog Rustling Up

CADIZ, Ky. (AP) — A wave of cattle and hog rustling, marked by an exchange of shots between a cattleman and nighttime intruders, has been reported in Trigg County, in southwest Kentucky.

Animals valued at $8,000 have been stolen in the last 12 months, the Trigg County Farm Bureau estimated Wednesday.

partly saw Kosygin off at the airport, indicating the importance of the mission. Others in the farewell party included Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko and Defense Minister Rodion Malinovsky.

On the plane with Kosygin were experts on military aid and on foreign contacts.

North Viet Nam has been supporting China in the Soviet-Chinese dispute. The Soviet Union has promised North Viet Nam "the necessary assistance" in case of an American attack.

Diplomatic observers here regard possible Soviet military assistance for North Viet Nam as more of an effort to buy moderating influence in Hanoi rather than irritate the situation there.

Soviet officials said Kosygin's group will spend Friday night in Peking, arrive in Hanoi Saturday for a four-day visit. It was not clear where the group will spend tonight.

No date for the end of the visit was announced.

I wonder whose the greatest greenhorn? The country boy whose knowledge of life is more or less limited to the ways of the farm and small town manners, often called a "hay seed" by his big city brothers, or the big city brother who has never learned the simple facts of life any farm kid comes to understand.

My folks didn't even raise a garden, and my knowledge of the soil was nil. I grew up in a city of 21,000 and in my young mind, anything one needed was purchased in a store, and I am sure I gave little thought as to how it got there.

We did own a car, and the family often went for small trips through the countryside, which broadened my scope somewhat. On one such trip, I observed a cow with a set of horns on her head. May I be quick to say, I was just a little boy. "What are those on the cow's head," I asked. "Horns," came the terse reply. Now this opened up a whole new trend of thought to me, the city-bred lad whose knowledge of horns was limited to the honk of a truck, the beep-beep of a car, and the variety of big horns and little horns blended together in a parade. I tried to figure it out, but it was beyond me, and thus, after some time, my folks were challenged with the question, "Well, how do they get them down to blow them?"

MY FATHER is a grocerman, and he has come to know many a farmer, having purchased goods of the land directly from these farmers. One of them had a boy just my age. You know how it goes. Parents will say, "Sure would be nice if your lad here could spend a couple, three days with our boy." At which the boys jump up and down and push the folks for an exact time and a settling of all details. And thus I began what became a great number of visits to the farm, and in exchange, my new-found friend started a long line of visits to the city.

Going to the farm opened a new world to me. I learned to top onions, sack spuds, and pick berries, but it was in the Milk Department that I proved that I was a real city greenhorn. We were filling milk bottles, as these people used to sell milk to neighbors, who for one reason or another didn't have any cows. It was up to us boys to haul the milk down the basement of the house and pour it through the separator. I had put two and two together, but obviously I came up with six. If you have ever seen a milk separator, you know the milk comes out one spout and the cream comes out the other, and thus, it does what it's name implies — it separates the milk from the cream.

BEING A city boy, and having had milk delivered to our door in glass bottles, and prior to homogenized milk, I was quite sure now that I understood why the top of the bottle always contained a sizable amount of cream. The farmer, I figured, put it on the top of the bottle as a bonus, so to speak. In keeping with my theory, I began to fill the glass bottles about three-quarters full leaving a sizable amount of space at the top. My farmer friend looked at the bottle, and with a strange smile asked, "Why don't you fill them up?" Amazed at his lack of understanding I said, "Why that's for the cream."

And that's where Bill Merrill, city greenhorn, learned that the cream is in the milk and that it (the cream) rises to the top, a fact that many a city youth of our day may never learn, considering that milk is now homogenized, and if it wasn't, it's placed in cardboard and you couldn't see it anyway.

It's obvious that our day is marked with progress, education accelerated, and thus knowledge is broadened. Yet, I wonder if the difference between a greenhorn and the well-seasoned isn't still simple experience had by doing the chores, be it city or farm? I suspect we do the kids a favor if we assign them a worthy task here and there.

Dock Strike In 25th Day

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — Negotiations moved slowly in the costly and crippling East and Gulf Coast longshoremen's strike, which entered its 25th day today.

Holding up settlement of the strike are unsolved agreements between dockers and shipping officials in Philadelphia; Galveston, Tex.; Miami, Fla.; and Hampton Roads, Va.

The International Longshoremen's Association has refused to send any of its men back to work, even where new contracts have been settled, until total agreement is reached.

A federal mediator in Philadelphia, where James J. Reynolds, assistant secretary of labor, is attending the talks, said that a settlement in this Delaware River port city had no connection with any of the other negotiations.

Federal Mediator John R. Murray said "all are going on separately and many have different problems. All are keys to eventual total settlement. Every agreement helps the next one."

Murray and Reynolds announced a recess in talks between ILA Local 1292 and the Philadelphia Marine Trade Association Wednesday midnight and plans to resume discussions at 10 a.m. today.

The major obstacle to agreement in Philadelphia, according to ILA Vice President James T. Mook, is the union's demand for a 1,600-hour annual work guarantee. Shipowners reportedly want to guarantee only 1,300 hours.

Thursday, February 4, 1965 WINONA DAILY NEWS 1

The U.S. Maritime Administration reports the strike, which has idled 60,000 longshoremen, has set the national economy back well over a billion dollars.

Man Swaps $2 for Bandit's Pistol

LOUISVILLE, Ky. (AP) — A bandit swapped his pistol for $2 Wednesday night.

Albert Stober, 36, told police he had stopped his car at a traffic light when the bandit opened the door on the passenger side. Stober said he pulled out the $2 in his pocket and when he handed it to the man, knocked the gun from his hand.

The bandit grabbed the money and fled.

Rapid Changes Taking Place

By ALBERT MARSHALL

WE ARE OFTEN reminded that rapid changes are taking place in this country and that scientific and technological progress, together with an increase in leisure time, has materially affected our way of life. And, of course, altered the nature of employment geared to providing for people's wants.

In some lines of activity new jobs are opening up at a rapid rate. And in others employment possibilities are limited due to a declining demand.

In this respect it is interesting to follow the development of employment in Minnesota under constantly changing conditions. A comparison of the 1947 records with those for the past year produces some rather significant aspects. Here are the highlights:

Our farms have become mechanized so rapidly of late that far fewer people are required to produce food and fibre needs. Because that part of our population living on the farm has decreased from a third to a fifth of the total, it is evident that opportunities for employment in this field are dwindling.

IN MINNESOTA, bread-winners are now mostly engaged in other types of work. The statistics show that employment off the farm has grown by a third since the end of the war.

In spite of the fact that considerable emphasis has been placed on progress in industry, the state's big growth in employment has come outside the industrial field. Since 1947, the manufacturing work force has increased by a fifth — but jobs in other fields have increased almost twice as fast — by 38 percent.

The fastest growing area of employment is in public service — and that includes all governmental agencies together with the public schools and institutions of higher learning. In the past 17 years employment gains in this field amounted to 69 percent.

Banking, insurance, real estate, and related enterprises ran a close second and stimulated an employment increase of 61 percent.

CLOSE BEHIND came the service field composed of professionals, like doctors and lawyers, and their assistants, staffs of all privately operated schools and hospitals, repair men, barbers, beauticians, and a host of other men and women who render services that provide the necessities and niceties of civilized life.

The service field showed a 55 percent gain over 1947. And the building trades and construction employed 54 percent more people.

Telephone and power companies and other utility firms have been growing too. They now have 30 percent larger payrolls.

Only a step behind are the busy marts of trade. Over the years the numbers engaged in the business of selling goods showed a 27 percent rise.

Opportunities for employment, however, are shrinking in two other fields — transportation and mining and quarrying.

It is common knowledge that the railroads employ far fewer people than they once did. Less well known is that fact that their chief competitor, the trucking industry, has not created enough new jobs to make up the deficit. Thus it is that the transportation agencies now employ about one percent less people than they did in 1947.

MINING AND quarrying jobs have shrunk by an eighth, largely due to the curtailment of operations on the iron ranges. Mining company employees now number 17 percent less.

While manufacturing employment is up by a fifth, the gains in specific segments of industry show wide variations.

Concerns engaged in manufacturing scientific instruments (including surgical, optical, and photographic devices) have almost doubled their work forces. Their gain was one of 84 percent.

The makers of electrical machinery and electronic equipment (including computers) now employ two-thirds more people. So do the big paper mills.

Employers engaged in the manufacture of non-electric machines, rubber products, leather and shoes, and in the fabrication of metals are all half again as large as those of the immediate post war years.

THE CHEMICAL industry (including several 3M plants, oil refineries and such companies as Watkins Products) reported a 42 percent gain in employment. The state's important printing and publishing fraternity added a tenth to its payrolls.

All these manufacturing activities have been gaining ground. In contrast, several long reliable sources of employment to Minnesotans are on the wane.

During the past 17 years, food producers — flour mills, canneries, creameries, packing plants, etc. — reduced the ranks of their employees by a tenth. And the makers of furniture and fixtures and the once prominent clothing industry dropped a fifth of their people.

Steel mills, blast furnaces, and foundries now employ 23 percent less men. And the once mightiest meal ticket of them all — the lumber mills and the wood products manufacturers — has shrunk until its work force is a third smaller than it was at the war's end.

In a recent report on the economies of the area, the professors employed by the

Law to Curb Strikes Asked

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON — About $1.5 billion has been lost to the nation's economy in the last three weeks due to a longshoremen's strike in Atlantic coast and gulf ports. Perhaps one fifth of this sum is a loss to the federal Treasury because of resultant tax deductions, but the major loss is to American businessmen and to the workers. Orders for goods have been held in abeyance due to the strike, and the indirect effects on various businesses here and abroad probably amount to far more than the estimated $65 million a day. Approximately 62,000 workers have been idle 22 days thus far.

Yet the President of the United States could not avert this catastrophe, and leaders of the Democratic party, which has control of both houses of Congress, have not given any sign that they will take action to prevent a recurrence of the same kind of interruption to American commerce and trade. President Johnson has finally made an appeal to the unions, but he has no legal authority to require them to resume work.

PLAINLY, Congress has the major responsibility. It can pass a law forbidding the misuse and abuse of the "right to strike." There is no reason why strikes should be permitted while serious and hopeful negotiations are in progress or, indeed, when locals in some of the large ports have accepted the terms, yet cannot go back to work because unions in other coast cities have not voted their approval of the settlement.

The whole situation is one of the worst messes in labor history. It is a state of anarchy. There is no question of the importance of the right to strike and of the value of collective bargaining in settling labor disputes. But the "public interest" — which is so often mentioned but given little attention by the parties battling one another — cannot be ignored much longer.

A simple amendment to the national labor relations law could prohibit the beginning of any strikes until after a federal mediator has examined carefully the negotiations to determine whether there is good faith on both sides and whether a reasonable settlement is possible by further talks. It is a violation of the principles of the antitrust law to give any national labor union the right to interrupt American commerce just because each local labor union in an industry has not reached an agreement with an employer.

Messages Prove Winston Was Right About Berlin

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Sen. Willis Robertson, the Virginia Democrat, got up on the Senate floor last week to differ with my column on Churchill's political perception regarding Berlin.

Sen. Robertson proclaimed that Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower was not responsible for switching the war-time signals by which the American armies let the Russians take Berlin. He quoted Eisenhower as having told him in the summer of 1947 "that the decision to let the Russians take Berlin was made by President Roosevelt, who was, of course, his commander-in-chief."

Since Roosevelt is not alive to defend himself and since a divided Berlin continues to be the No. 1 political problem of Western Europe, it is important to ascertain who told the truth — Churchill or Eisenhower.

The record shows that Churchill sent some strong messages on this subject in March 1945 at the very time the American and Russian armies were racing toward Berlin. His views were not afterthoughts made after the war was over. He was made in the heat of battle. So were Eisenhower's replies, both of which can be quoted.

What first teed off Churchill regarding Berlin was Ike's message on March 30, 1945, to him as prime minister. In it Ike changed what Churchill considered was the primary Allied objective in Germany.

"AS SOON as the U.S. Ninth and First armies join hands and enemy encircled in Ruhr area is incapable of further offensive action," Eisenhower telegraphed Churchill, "I propose driving eastward to join hands with Russians or to attain general line of Elbe. Subject to Russian intentions, the Axis Kassel - Leipzig is the best for the drive, as it will ensure the overrunning of that important industrial area into which the German ministries are believed to be moving; it will cut the German forces approximately in half and it will not involve us in cross-the-Elbe."

"Once the success of the main thrust is assured," continued Eisenhower, "I propose to take action to clear the northern ports, which in the case of Kiel will entail forcing the Elbe."

This plan to clear up the Ruhr to the south and the German ports to the north, but not take Berlin, alarmed Churchill.

In his memoirs he wrote: "About the same time, we learned that Eisenhower had announced his policy in a direct telegram to Marshal Stalin March 28 without previously mentioning the subject either to his deputy, Air Chief Marshal Tedder, or the combined chiefs of staff."

"WE ALL thought this went beyond the limits of negotiation with the Soviets by the Supreme Commander in Europe," Churchill wrote.

The fact that President Roosevelt did not order this reversal, as charged by Sen. Robertson, would appear to be refuted by Churchill's further statement:

"Gen. Eisenhower felt justified in this direct correspondence with the head of the Russian state because Stalin was also commander-in-chief of the Red army. Yet it was not with the President of the United States that he corresponded, who was also the head of the military forces, but with Gen. Marshall."

"Stalin agreed readily," continued Churchill in his memoirs. "He said that the proposal 'entirely coincides with the plan of the Soviet high command. Berlin,' he added, 'has lost its former strategic importance.'"

"THE BRITISH chiefs of staff were concerned about the merits of the new plan," Churchill continued, "and about the short-circuiting of the highest authorities, both military and constitutional."

Next day, March 31, Churchill sent a personal telegram to Eisenhower, previously quoted in this column, strongly emphasizing that "Berlin has not lost its military and certainly not its political significance."

One day later, the prime minister sent a telegram direct to Roosevelt, previously quoted in this column, emphasizing the same point.

Eisenhower's reply to Churchill, dated April 1, 1945, is significant and strongly refutes the statement which he made to Sen. Robertson in 1947 that it was Roosevelt who switched the signals. In this telegram, Ike told Churchill that the plan he was following had been evolved by him and his staff "for more than a year."

"IN THE FIRST place I repeat I have not changed my plan," Eisenhower wired Churchill, and he went on to emphasize the importance of the Ruhr industrial area and the necessity of striking a blow at it.

"The situation that is now developing is one that I have held before my staff for more than a year as the one toward which we shall strive, namely that our forces should be concentrated across the Rhine through the avenues of Wesel and Frankfurt."

Shuttle-Service For Viet Agents

By JAMES MARLOW

Associated Press News Analyst

WASHINGTON (AP) — It's practically a shuttle-service. Year after year American officials dash to Viet Nam to see how to win the war against the Communists. They dash home, dash back. The war keeps falling apart.

Now President Johnson has sent another, this time his top White House adviser on foreign policy, McGeorge Bundy, former Harvard dean and adviser to President John F. Kennedy whose luck with Viet Nam was no better than Johnson's.

For years the United States has pumped aid into South Viet Nam — in the billions of dollars — for the war against the Viet Cong guerrillas directed by Communist North Viet Nam.

The United States has 23,000 military "advisers" in Viet Nam although it's hard to think of them as mere advisers when more than 360 of them have lost their lives and more than 1,550 have been wounded.

ALTHOUGH the Vietnamese have no training in democracy, the United States has insisted that a civilian government must run the country. But Vietnamese generals, acting more like warlords than generals, move in and take over.

Meanwhile, the guerrillas have taken over 60 percent of South Viet Nam although most of the population is not in that 60 percent area.

White House aides said Bundy is going to consult with Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, the U.S. ambassador in Saigon, because the President didn't want to bring Taylor home at a time as slippery as this in Viet Nam.

Before he became ambassador last July, Taylor had made trips to Saigon. He has returned to Washington twice since July for consultations. Secretary of Defense Robert S. McNamara, now recovering from pneumonia, has made five trips and Secretary of State Dean Rusk two.

THE VISITORS arrived, consulted, and left, and conditions got worse. The visitors hurried back and chaos spread. The reason for the Bundy trip was what happened last Wednesday. The military threw out the civilian government.

This put Lt. Gen. Nguyen Khanh back in power. He had been in and out of power like a man in a revolving door since November 1963, when President Ngo Dinh Diem was ousted and assassinated.

Khanh didn't take over right away. But he soon did. Then he was thrown out last August after Buddhist agitation. A civilian government was installed. Last December the military, supported by Khanh, bounced that government.

THE United States protested. It wanted the military to fight the war, stay out of government. It developed between Khanh and Taylor. Some semblance of civilian government was restored. Last Wednesday Khanh threw it out.

Mixed up in all this, while the military wanted to run things, were Buddhist riots and protests. Buddhists want a hand in running things, too. If this seems dizzy it must seem dizzy to the Senate's Democratic leader, Mike Mansfield.

After last Wednesday's coup he got up in the Senate to do some arithmetic on the turnovers but even he seemed a little fuzzy on all that had happened.

He said that since Diem's death in 1963 there have been "three coups, one attempted coup, one semi-coup, and three other changes which are hard to classify."

IN JANUARY, Sen. Richard B. Russell, D-Ga., chairman of the Senate Armed Services Committee, told reporters: "We can't win the war in Viet Nam" unless a more stable government is established for "until we stop the revolving chair system there is very little hope of much progress. The situation worsens every time they have a coup and change their civil government."

Khanh's answer to that

Answers To Your Questions

Dear Dr. Molner: Quite a few people in our locality draw their drinking water from a deep well at the town pump. I am sure the water contains lime. Is there any harm in it, such as kidney stones, or does the body pass off the lime or consume it? —O.R.B.

Unless you already have kidney or heart trouble, I wouldn't worry—and even then the presence of sodium or other materials would be more significant than the lime.

Dear Dr. Molner: Could you send me some booklets, pamphlets and pictures on artificial respiration, the respiratory system, first aid, the circulatory system, shock and wounds? Send them as immediately as possible. —MISS A. MCC.

I could but I won't. In behalf of myself and lots of other columnists in all sorts of fields, I'll repeat: You've been assigned to write some sort of a paper in school. There's no reason why I should do your homework for you, and there are plenty of reasons why I shouldn't. You're supposed to start finding out how to look things up for yourself in the library.

While you're there, get a dictionary and find out what's wrong with the way you spelled "circulatory." You probably will turn in to a good student if you work at it—but you won't if I do your work for you.

Dear Dr. Molner: I have had a gas refrigerator for 13 years, but today someone told me that it might poison my food. Is this true? —C. G.

No. Just another one of the crazy stories that keep cropping up even in this age of supposed good sense.

Last Wednesday was to throw out what was left of the civil government. The whole business now comes down to three questions:

1. Should the United States quit and get out? If so, communism almost certainly will take over all Viet Nam and probably all Southeast Asia eventually.

2. Should the United States, in a greater effort to win, have the war carried into North Viet Nam? If so, Red China and even the Soviet Union might get in.

3. Should the United States just stumble along, as it has been doing, hoping for the best? A lot of senators think so.

Meanwhile, the United States which denounced control by the military now seems to be getting reconciled to military control.

Malaysia No Pushover For Sukarno

LABUAN, Malaysia Borneo (AP) — Borneo is a huge cup of an island, bigger than Texas. Indonesia occupies the main part, the center and south. Atop this, like a broad layer of whipped cream floating on chocolate, lies part of Malaysia, the federation which Indonesia's President Sukarno has vowed to crush.

But Malaysian Borneo promises to be no pile of whipped cream if Sukarno tries to move in. Thousands of British, Gurkha and Malaysian soldiers, sailors and airmen are guarding the frontier that splits Borneo.

Soldiers patrolling the jungle always have a finger on the trigger, always ready for an Indonesian infiltrator. British commandos who patrol the maze of creeks and rivers in the east cover every mangrove root with a machine gun as they pass in assault boats.

The Malaysians in the thriving towns of eastern Malaysia appear to think the danger of war is remote. Life is normal, except for the presence of troops. A 13-story office block is going up in one place, an 11-story hotel in another, and new apartment blocks.

Borneo of 1965 is not a land of wild men, head hunters, bare-bosomed women.

The towns are small, 10,000 to 20,000, but even so there are parking problems. Markets are packed with food, and buyers.

The women wear Western clothes with high-heeled shoes, or long skirts and blouses, or slacks, or the pajama-type outfit common in the East. The men usually wear long trousers and open shirts.

Out in the jungle villages, the favorite dress material is a discarded parachute from a supply drop. Children are nearly always dressed in uniform as they go to school. Mostly they speak two words of English — "Hullo" and "Goodbye."

An English soldier griped: "Why should I be shot at when everything is just normal for the Malaysians?"

But their feeling does not appear general among the 10,000-plus soldiers who are here. Troops in the field are confi-

SNOWBANKS OF 8 TO 10 FEET IN MICHIGAN TOWN ... This winter up to 200 inches of snow has fallen in Michigan's Keweenaw Peninsula, the northern-most part of the state which juts into Lake Superior — but residents get around and take it all in stride. Traffic moves freely on this

Calumet Area, Michigan, Has 200 Inches of Snow

By PHIL THOMAS

CALUMET, Mich. (AP) — When it snows in Michigan's rugged Keweenaw Peninsula it pours.

Up to 200 inches of snow have fallen in parts of the area this winter, and a good bit of that total still is on the ground.

But Keweenaw residents take it in stride. They're used to it. "It's just as nice here as it is in the summer," said Keweenaw County Sheriff Ted E. Rogers, "except it's colder."

Rogers and his men police a wild, sparsely populated region that is the northernmost point of Michigan. The Keweenaw Peninsula is a large finger of land balanced atop Michigan's Upper Peninsula and juts into chilly Lake Superior.

Rogers estimates that between 175 and 180 inches of snow have fallen thus far in the Calumet area.

"But it's really no trouble," he said. "As soon as it falls the city sends out machines we call 'snow-gos'. They suck up the snow and blow it into trucks. The trucks haul it out of town and dump it in a pile in an unused area and that's it. We don't have any trouble getting around. Everybody drives all winter without difficulty. Once in a while, when it's real cold, our cars won't start. But that doesn't happen often."

Calumet has a population of 1,139 and its neighbor, Laurium, 3,058.

County Road Commission crews measured the snow at Delaware, an abandoned community a few miles north of Calumet, Monday. It came to 200 inches.

They said this was 79 inches more than the snow depth at this time last winter, but 82.2 inches short of the record 282.2 inches set in 1949-50.

But John Jackson, county highway engineer, said he anticipated a fall of 300 inches before May 3.

No Fighting In Vientiane

BANGKOK, Thailand (AP) — Vientiane was reported quiet but tense today with loyalist forces of the deputy chief of staff, Gen. Kouprasith Abhay, apparently in control of the Laotian capital after an abortive revolt in the army.

Reliable informants in Thailand reported no new fighting today in Vientiane. Eight persons were known killed and 38 others wounded in bitter fighting Wednesday before Abhay's men put down the revolt of some 800 dissidents.

The U.S. and Thai Embassy buildings in Vientiane sustained minor damage. A Thai Embassy official was among the dead. None of the 1,000 Americans in the capital was believed hurt.

Vientiane airport was reported still closed to commercial traffic.

An unconfirmed report in Bangkok said foreign correspondents in Vientiane had been arrested. Thai officials said nearly 10,000 persons fled Laos and sought refuge in the Nongkhai area of northern Thailand.

Among the refugees were dependents of Thai embassy personnel in Vientiane, evacuated

Michigan Snowballs For Texas Fight

HOUGHTON, Mich. (AP) — Students at Michigan Tech are supplying ammunition for a snowball fight in Texas.

Tech campus leaders say 500 snowballs scheduled to be airlifted today to Southwest Texas State College will give students at the San Marcos, Tex., school a chance to experience "joys of a real snowball fight."

The snowball airlift is sponsored by Blue Key, a national honors fraternity, and is a part of Michigan Tech's annual winter carnival.

If you're going to enter something like the Pure Oil Performance Trials, you might as well do it to win.

So we did. Class IV—won by Buick Special. Down at Daytona Beach, we gave everyone another look at Buick's "Win Policy". A V-8 Buick Special won over stiff competition (sorry, boys!) in Class IV—in the 1965 Pure Oil Performance Trials. The winning Special was equipped with our 300 cubic inch Wildcat 310 V-8 and Super Turbine Transmission.

Remember that the drivers in the Performance Trials are skilled professionals, and the cars finely tuned standard production models. (If it can be said that the Special is "Standard" anything.) Also remember that the trials are an exhausting, carefully graded test of a car's all-around ability. In economy, acceleration and braking. Small wonder the Special came out on top. Handsomely.

(The specific detail? Our hero averaged 20.689 mpg in economy, to score second among 10 cars. It accomplished the acceleration test—from 25 to 70 mph—in 9.315 seconds, for a fifth. And took another second in braking: from 65 to 0 mph in 172.0 feet. The cumulative result: we won all the marbles in Class IV.)

Now then. If you're going to enter something—like a car—you might as well do it to win, too. Your Buick dealer can introduce you to the driver's seat of a Buick Special. It's the best seat in anything on four wheels. And a winner, besides. Your dealer can arrange a memorable command performance.

Church Women Alter Work Pattern, Says Rev. Fenwick

When the Rev. Robert Fenwick, rector of St. Luke's Church, Rochester, spoke before St. Paul's Episcopal Church Women Wednesday afternoon, he chose as his subject "The Changing Pattern in Women's Work in the Church."

He stated that the work of women's church organizations has changed very little in the years since 1870, when women first became active in the work of the church. Now the women are beginning to convert their "activities" into "actions," and are combining their efforts and abilities with those of the men of the church in achieving the true aim—that of bringing the Gospel to the people.

THE SPEAKER stated that since it is impossible for any one person to possess all the attributes of a true Christian leader, "we depend on others to supply those qualities which we do not have." When everyone works together to achieve an aim, the result is bound to be success, he said.

At the business meeting following the Rev. Fenwick's address, it was announced that a Quiet Day will be observed at Wabasha Feb. 24, and that the spring meeting of the Hiawatha Valley Denary will be at Rushford on April 28.

Devotions were led by Mrs. Harold Shackell, and members of St. Anne's Guild were hostesses at dessert preceding the program.

FARM MESSAGE

of 1964 should also be extended and improved and it is essential that cotton be competitive with other fibers and in world markets. "At the same time we must adopt measures to reduce the cost of this program and the level of stocks," Johnson said. "Specific amendments to current legislation will be suggested to accomplish these objectives."

Tobacco — The tobacco program must be reappraised this year. "Yield increases, higher government costs, deterioration of quality and loss of foreign markets have weakened what has been a highly successful program," Johnson said. "Legislation is needed to authorize production and marketing limits on an acreage-poundage basis. Consideration should also be given to revision in our programs which will make American tobacco more competitive in world markets."

Rice — Consideration should be given to amending the rice program to support market prices at competitive world levels, and to provide additional supports for producer income from the proceeds of marketing certificates.

Wool — The wool law which expires next year is operating successfully and should be extended with minor amendments.

Livestock — The administration will continue to cooperate with livestock farmers and ranchers to maintain fair prices in the market place. "We will help them to build markets here and abroad, and to preserve fair competition in the marketing of livestock and livestock products, and continue our present measures which will prevent an undue increase in imports," Johnson said.

Other commodities — Continuing study is being given to programs and needs for other farm commodities and appropriate changes and recommendations will be made as circumstances require.

Music Bar Holds Opening

The turnout at the grand opening of the Music Bar, across 6th Street from the Sky-Vu Theater, was "beautiful," according to one of the proprietors.

Mrs. Russell Hoffman said a crowd of more than 300 braved the cold to come to the new tavern's grand opening.

The Badger Dutchmen played for dancing from 8:30 p.m. until 12:30 a.m., Mrs. Hoffman said.

The tavern has an orchestra playing for dancing each Friday, Saturday and Sunday night.

The Hoffmans, who operated The Hub, 500 W. 5th St., another tavern, 2½ years, opened the Music Bar in December. They have been getting good crowds for their dances since then, Mrs. Hoffman said.

The new steel building can seat 144 persons at tables and another 15 at the bar.

Groves High on Four Structures

S. J. Groves & Sons, contractor for construction of Interstate 90 south of here, was successful high bidder on all but one of the buildings to be moved from the highway's right of way.

The firm purchased a two-story frame house situated west of Dakota, a frame and concrete barn, a stone hog house and a corn crib and milk house. It paid $50 for the house and $10 for each of the other three structures.

The only other successful bidder was Lloyd Moldenhauer, Dakota, who bought a chicken house and coop for $31.

Bids were opened in St. Paul Jan. 14. The buildings must be moved from the land on or before March 27.

Drain on Gold Easy to Explain

By SAM DAWSON
AP Business News Analyst

NEW YORK (AP) — All of the debating in Congress and out on whether gold backing for U.S. currency and bank deposits should be maintained or cut can't hide the underlying problem.

U.S. gold reserves would not have been drained since 1958 nor threatened now if the United States hadn't been running a continuous deficit in its international financial payments.

What to do about this monetary deficit, and who or what is to blame for it will be increasingly debated as Congress acts on gold reserve revisions.

The gap between the outflow of dollars and the return flow widened in the final quarter of 1964 after showing some improvement early in the year. And the drain of gold increased this January after dropping to a trickle last year.

President de Gaulle of France is blamed for the most recent loss because he wants his central bank to hold fewer dollars and more gold. But he couldn't have got the U.S. gold if this country hadn't been running a balance of payments deficit.

That let the supply of surplus dollars pile up in other nations. And their central banks can and occasionally do turn in some of this surplus for the gold the U.S. Treasury keeps at Ft. Knox and in its vaults in lower Manhattan.

Last year the United States sent $2.6 billion more dollars, for private and government spending, abroad than it got back, adding by that much to the foreign-held surplus building up over the years.

Trade cannot be blamed. U.S. commercial exports topped imports by $3.6 billion. And to this can be added $4 billion of net income on foreign investments. The loss was from other financial dealings.

Seattle Man Loses $39,000 in Phone Romance

SEATTLE (AP) — A former Moorhead, Minn., housewife, accused of cheating a Seattle man out of $39,000 in a telephone romance, was ordered Wednesday to report her financial condition so that a court can decide how much she has to repay.

Superior Court Judge Stanley C. Soderland gave Mrs. Mary Ellen Peters, 39, 10 days to report on her income, assets and expenditures.

Mrs. Peters, 4 feet, 9 inches tall and weighing 370 pounds, appeared in court here last Sept. 30 and pleaded guilty to grand larceny by bunco.

She admitted defrauding Kenneth L. Moran, 34, over seven years during telephone chats in which she pretended to be a pretty young woman in need of money. Moran, real estate salesman and longshoreman, said he fell for it without ever meeting her.

Judge Soderland imposed a sentence of up to 15 years, suspended on condition she make restitution.

At Wednesday's hearing.

Moran testified he turned over all his earnings except $30 a week to the woman with the sweet telephone voice. Moran said his total loss was $39,541.52.

The judge continued the hearing until he gets a financial report of Mrs. Peters.

Senate Gives LBJ Food for Arab States

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate has voted President Johnson the discretionary authority he asked to ship surplus foods to the United Arab Republic, but dealt him two setbacks on the domestic front.

It climaxed more than six hours of fiery debate Wednesday night by approving, 44 to 38, an administration-supported amendment modifying a House ban against shipments of surplus agricultural commodities to Cairo.

The administration lobbied to have the ban lifted on the grounds it would tie the President's hands in dealing with UAR President Gamal Abdel Nasser.

But minutes later, by a standing vote, the Senate attached to a $1.6-billion emergency agricultural appropriation an amendment to deny the Veterans Administration use of any funds heretofore voted to carry out its order closing 11 hospitals and four soldiers homes and relocating 16 regional offices.

After that vote, the Senate hastily passed the money bill providing funds to reimburse the Commodity Credit Corporation for losses incurred in farm price supports and related programs.

Earlier in the day, it adopted by voice vote another amendment to shut off any of the funds to carry out a Dec. 31 order by Secretary of Agriculture Orville L. Freeman calling for the closing of 20 agricultural research stations and projects in 34 other stations until Congress investigates this spring.

Nation Cold From Plains To Atlantic

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Zero temperatures maintained a tenacious grip today from the central and northern Plains to the Atlantic.

The mercury failed to climb above the zero mark Wednesday over much of the area from northern Wisconsin to northeastern Montana.

The temperature in International Falls, Minn., has risen above zero only once in the last week. Chicago went through its seventh consecutive day of subzero weather.

Snow fell from the northern Rockies to eastern Washington and south and east of the Great Lakes. Rain dampened southern Texas and western Wisconsin.

Western New York State was laced by high winds. Watertown which received seven inches of new snow, closed schools for the first time this year. More than 50 motorists were stranded in Adams, south of Watertown.

But the cold didn't stop about 2,000 Marines from Camp Lejeune, N.C., who started a month-long winter exercise at Camp Drum near Watertown.

Four deaths related to the weather were reported in Kentucky. Much of the state was still covered by snow, but all main roads were open. Schools in 20 or more counties were closed again today.

The lowest temperature recorded in Kentucky was 14 below in Somerset. Other readings were —9 in Whitesburg, —4 in Covington, —3 in Bowling Green and —1 in Corbin.

The cold siege took its seventh life in Tennessee Wednesday when a Nashville woman was found frozen to death in her yard.

An elderly couple was found frozen to death in a room of their Elwood, Ind., home. Residents in Calumet, Mich., took the 200 inches of snow which has fallen this winter philosophically. "It's just as nice here as it is in the summer, except it's colder," one resident noted.

River craft smashed open a Mississippi navigation channel near Cairo in Southern Illinois a few hours after ice floes covering 90 cent of the river had formed an ice jam.

The Weather Bureau said the rich vegetable growing areas of Florida and southern Texas appeared to have escaped the worst of the cold weather.

Warm rains fell along the western Gulf Coast and headed eastward into northern Florida, ending the frost threat to these areas.

Early morning temperatures ranged from 24 below zero at Aberdeen, S.D., and Bismarck, N.D., to 72 at Key West, Fla.

De Gaulle Asks Examination of U.N. Charter

PARIS (AP)—President Charles de Gaulle today proposed a five-power conference, including Communist China, to examine and perhaps revise the United Nations charter.

He also called for a new world monetary system founded on something more than the dollar and pound sterling.

The French president told his semiannual news conference France is making this proposal to bring the U.N. charter up to date.

He said such a conference should be held in Geneva. He mentioned the Soviet Union, Britain, France, the United States and China as participants.

These — making allowances for the difference of policy regarding China — are the five of the International Monetary Fund at Tokyo. This proposal was that world trade be conducted on the basis of a new unit of account, in turn based on the currencies of 10 principal trading nations.

De Gaulle today, however, asserted that gold should be the ultimate basis.

"Exchanges ought to be evaluated on an indisputable monetary base, on something which does not carry the imprint of any one country. What can such a base be? There is no criterion other than gold which has no nationality."

De Gaulle recalled that France last fall proposed a change in the world's monetary system, during a meeting cl. They also were the five inviting powers to the conference in San Francisco 20 years ago, which drafted and adopted the original charter.

He said the present monetary system, which relies chiefly on the dollar, no longer corresponds with the real situation in the world.

He said circumstances have changed "and France wants the system changed so that a fundamental lack of balance shall cease."

Feed Grain Plan Signup to Begin

Signup in the 1965 feed grain program begins Monday and extends through March 26, says John F. Papenfuss, chairman of the Winona ASC Committee.

Papenfuss said county offices do not yet have authorization to make advance payments. This authority is expected but probably not by the beginning of the signup.

SINCE THE advance payments probably won't be available by that time, it may help to spread the signup over the seven-week period and relieve some of the rush at the county office during the first days of the signup, the chairman said.

Notices of acreages, yields and payment rates have been mailed out and Papenfuss pointed out that county farmers will notice that their payment rates are higher this year as a result of the county average yield being raised from 70 to 72 bushels per acre.

Minnesota Hog Slaughter Dips; Others Gain

ST. PAUL, Minn. — Commercial slaughter plants in Minnesota during the January-December 1964 period killed 1,696,000 cattle; 230,300 calves, 5,792,000 hogs and 875,500 sheep and lambs according to the Crop and Livestock Reporting Service of the Minnesota and U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Comparable figures for 1963 are: Cattle, 1,453,000 head, up 17 percent; calves 196,500, up 17 percent; hogs, 5,820,000, down less than 1 percent, and sheep and lambs, 820,000, up 7 percent.

Cattle slaughtered during December 1964 totaled 159,000, head, up 24 percent from the 128,000 slaughtered in December 1963, and 10 percent above November 1964. The average live-weight of cattle slaughtered was 1,050 pounds per head compared with 1,086 in December 1963 and 1,061 pounds for the previous month.

December calf slaughter totaled 30,500, 23 percent above the same month last year and 7 percent above November 1964. Calves slaughtered averaged 170 pounds per head live weight, 4 pounds less than December 1963 and also 4 pounds less than a month earlier.

The hog kill in December at 894,000 head, was 12 percent above the 532,000 slaughtered in December 1963, but 3 percent less than November 1964. The average live weight for the month was 249 pounds per head compared with 253 pounds a year earlier and 253 pounds during November 1964.

Sheep and lambs slaughtered in commercial plants during December totaled 89,500 head, the same as a year ago, but down 10 percent from last month. The average live weight for the month was 103 pounds per head, 4 pounds over a year ago, and 2 pounds more than a month earlier.

Generally it will be an advantage to use premeasurement, except in cases where the same fields are used as in 1964, or where the farmer is very sure of his acreages, or where he is sure that he has overplanted or underplanted by a safe margin.

The premeasurement fee is $10. This will permit ground measurement of 3 fields in addition to officially measured fields which are unchanged from prior years, and those fields which can be measured from the aerial photograph and verified by the field reporter.

There will be an extra charge of $1.75 per field for all fields in excess of three which must be field measured.

THE CHAIRMAN said there is interest in the wheat substitution rule for 1965. He said this provision will have limited use in Winona County because it is available only to those farms which have established what allotments and only then where the farm is entered in both the feed grain and what stabilization programs.

Papenfuss also noted the "cross compliance" rule, which means if a farmer is operating two or more farms and enters one of them in the feed grain program, he cannot overplant the feed grain base, or bases on any other farm, or farms, in which he has an interest in feed grains in 1965.

The chairman said a farm owner cannot, by leasing or renting part or all of the farm, escape responsibility for the total feed grain base being exceeded. This is a change. If he wishes to take part in the program, he should make certain the rental agreement on the non-participating farm prohibits feed grains in excess of the base.

Substituting Grain For Hay Suggested

By OLIVER STRAND Winona County Agent

LEWISTON, Minn. — Many Winona County and South-eastern Minnesota dairy farmers are critically short of hay and grain for their herds this year because of last year's drought conditions.

Normally a dairy farmer's winter feeding program is determined largely by the type, supply and quality of hay that he has available to feed. With hay in short supply locally and because the quality of purchased hay — even at relatively high prices — is generally questionable, it is desirable for most dairymen to consider substitution of grain or other concentrates for hay in the ration to as large an extent as possible.

DAIRY Husbandry Fact Sheet 1, "Winter Feeding of Dairy Cows," by the University of Minnesota dairy department, is available at the county agent's office. It can help in making needed feed adjustments.

For example, with a low supply of mixed hay available it is suggested that the dairyman limit hay to 6 to 10 pounds daily per cow, plus all the corn silage the cow will eat (if silage is available). In addition he should feed a 16 percent crude protein ration consisting of 4 parts corn or oats and 1 part high protein concentrate to dairy cows at the rate of 1 pound grain to each 2 pounds of milk over 15 pounds for the low testing breeds.

If corn silage is limited also, shelled corn or corn and cob meal can be substituted at the rate of 1 pound of corn to replace 4 pounds of average corn silage. With stored shelled corn available to eligible farmers at $1.19 through the local ASCS Office and on the market currently at $1.25 to $1.30 per bushel, many farmers should think seriously of adjusting their dairy rations to feed more corn, rather than paying excessively high prices for low quality hay.

On the basis of estimated net energy, one pound of shelled corn will replace two pounds of hay in the ration. However, each cow should receive a minimum of 6 to 10 pounds of hay per day in the ration or the fat test will tend to drop.

EVEN AT current prices of $1.30 per bushel of shelled corn or $2.30 per cwt. and $4.40 per cwt of soybean oil meal a farmer cannot afford to pay more than $30 per ton for average quality alfalfa hay when he is shipping for the energy and protein needs of his cows. (This is using the basis of estimated net energy which is more accurate than comparisons made on total digestible nutrients when comparing a concentrate with a forage feed.)

Oat straw and chopped or shredded corn stover (with ears removed) have just over half the net energy value of average quality alfalfa hay for dairy cattle. Beet pulp can also be added to a high grain ration to improve palatability and bulk content.

To enliven the color of mayonnaise made with a whole egg, add paprika.

FARMING Strong Pillar, Houston FB Crowd Told

CALEDONIA, Minn. (Special) — "Agriculture is a strong pillar in our economy," Dean Berg, University of Minnesota, told the 400 people who attended the recent seventh annual Houston County Farm Bureau banquet here.

"No nation is ahead of us in production of food and fiber," he said. "By 1970 we will have increased our output 20 percent."

Berg said the Russians are today where we were in 1890. In Denmark about 90 percent of the people own their farms and in the United States about 80 percent, he pointed out.

"We should strive for an understanding of the forces in the world today and what they mean to farmers and the man on main street," he said.

Turkey Aorta Study Backed

ST. PAUL, Minn. — Two University of Minnesota research projects on turkeys, one dealing with a turkey aorta problem and the other with nutrition, recently received additional support from the U.S. Public Health Service. Professor Paul E. Waibel in the Department of Poultry Science is principal investigator.

AORTIC rupture has long been a problem in turkey production, and losses from the problem have been estimated to account for 2 percent of Minnesota's turkeys. Basic causes of the problem are still unknown. It involves a rupture of the wall of the posterior aorta, followed by hemorrhaging and death.

The problem often has been viewed as due to high blood pressure or weakness of the aorta wall. Studies at Minnesota have dealt mostly with nutritional, biochemical, physiological and pathological aspects of the problem.

Findings to date indicate that certain tranquilizers and blood pressure-reducing drugs have some effect in delaying the onset of aortic rupture. One tranquilizer, reserpine, is currently used for this purpose by turkey producers.

Findings indicate that dietary copper deficiency may result in aortic rupture. One of the more significant findings is that weakening of the aorta can appear in turkey poult starting as early as three weeks of age. The problem ordinarily has not been detected until birds are about 8 weeks of age.

IN THE OTHER project, scientists are using one of the newer techniques for studying amino acid requirements. The scientists are using an analyzer to determine the levels of "free" amino acids in blood plasma and tissues, which then may be correlated with changes of amino acids in the diet. This makes possible the simultaneous study of levels of many amino acids, even though only one may be changed in the diet.

Urban Students Attracted to Farm Campus

ST. PAUL, Minn. — The St. Paul "farm" campus of the University of Minnesota is becoming increasingly urban in its student population.

Assistant Dean Keith McFarland of the College of Agriculture, Forestry and Home Economics said that while every county has students on the campus, about half of all undergraduate students there are from the 9-county area surrounding and including the Twin Cities.

In fact, 27 percent are from Hennepin County and 13.8 from Ramsey County.

Yet, McFarland said, demands from industry for graduates of agriculture, forestry and home economics programs far exceeds supply. Among graduates in agriculture alone, he said, 60 percent enter private industry or business. The rest take positions in public employment or are self-employed.

In forestry, McFarland pointed to heavy demand for graduates in the forest products, merchandising and research areas. Currently, the majority of forestry graduates accept employment in federal, state or local public agencies.

In home economics great shortages of graduates exist in education and dietetics, but there are critical needs for persons with advanced degrees for college teaching, research and related activities.

Radcliffe Urges Oleo Opposition

ST. PAUL, Minn. — John Radcliffe, assemblyman from Jackson and Trempealeau counties, urged farmers to fight against a bill before the Legislature which would permit the sale of colored oleomargarine.

"If the bill passes, let it specify that the color be black," Radcliffe suggested. "Coloring it black would not detract from the ingredients, and it would not go on the market under false pretenses."

"Butter is our best buy in food today. Its nutritional value is very important to low income families as well as all others. We are the only state in the U.S. prohibiting sale of colored margarine. Let's be proud of it, let the rest of the nation know about it. Wisconsin is the dairyland of the country. Farmers should stand up and be counted against the sale of colored margarine."

In addition to illegal sale of colored oleo in Wisconsin, there's a 15-cent tax per pound on uncolored oleo.

Young Farmer Moves Ahead

FEEDING . . . Meisch takes time out from his other farm duties to help feed hay to his livestock. He also feeds out about 30 dairy steers each year.

RECORD TIME . . . Nick Meisch, Winona County's young farmer of the year, his wife, Darlene, and their 5-year-old son, Phil, discuss the latest DHIA reports on the Meisch dairy herd. They also have two other children, Terri, 9, and Ricky, 10. They have increased their dairy herd from 16 to 65 and the average butterfat production per cow has almost doubled. (Daily News photo)

By FRANK BRUESKE
Daily News Farm Editor
MINNEAPOLIS, Minn. — Winona County's young farmer of the year is always looking for better ways to operate his dairy farm.

He is Nick Meisch, who farms about 6 miles south of here. He was selected by the agricultural committee of the Winona Junior Chamber of Commerce as one of the top young farmers in the county.

MEISCH, 35, operates a 320-acre dairy farm. In addition he rents another 120 acres on shares.

Meisch has been farming 17 years. He started working for his father and now employs a full-time farm family and owns the farm.

He has increased his original dairy herd from 16 to 65 cows. His average butterfat production has increased from 375 pounds per cow to more than 500 pounds per cow. He produces grade A milk and feeds out about 30 dairy steers a year.

A member of DHIA, he is on its board of directors. He tests his soil and fertilizes according to the tests and uses the Minnesota Farm Account Book. Meisch also belongs to the farm management service. He has his hay and silage tested yearly and feeds rations accordingly. He green chops hay and uses crop rotation system.

Meisch also is conservation minded. His entire farm is contour striped; he has a wildlife plot and has constructed a pond.

MEISCH believes records plan an important part in the success of a farmer.

"We wanted to sell three cows," he said. "All we did was to look at the DHIA records to spot the lowest three producers — and we sold them. If we didn't have records we might have sold some high producers. Our records don't lie."

Earle Drenckhahn, chairman of the chamber's agriculture committee, said Meisch's records have been entered in the Minnesota young farmer of the year contest.

A member and treasurer of Jehovah Lutheran Church, he is treasurer of School District 2572 and is a member of the Farm Bureau.

Selecting the young outstanding farmer in the area is an annual project of the Chamber of Commerce.

Meat Tenderness May Be Affected By Contractions

MADISON, Wis. — What makes a piece of beef tough or tender?

Most people say it's the age of the animal and the amount of fat or marbling in the lean. But University of Wisconsin meat specialists say that more than these two factors account for tenderness.

A factor in beef tenderness, according to H. K. Herring, R. G. Cassens and E. J. Briskey, is how much the muscle shortens after slaughter while the carcass is cooling. In normal meat processing the muscles shorten as the carcass hangs and cools, but the extent of shortening or contraction appears to be highly variable.

Under experimental conditions when muscle portions are removed from the carcass and put under tension and stretched while they cool, they are tender. Conversely, when portions from the same muscle are free to contract as they cool, they are tough.

In this experiment the researchers designed a special instrument to keep the meat cuts under tension. They measured the amount of stretch or contraction through special microscope techniques. These techniques involved the microscopic measurement of the muscle units, which are called sarcomeres.

Then the meat scientists related eating quality to the physical shortening or lengthening of the muscle and the microscopic changes. Experimental cuts were roasted at 350 degrees to an internal temperature of 150 degrees. A six-member panel judged the meat for tenderness. The researchers also measured the shear force (cutting pressure) needed to cut the cooked meat. Muscle which was not allowed to shorten was much more tender than that which was permitted to contract.

Amount of connective tissue, size of muscle fiber, and chemical changes in the carcass are, of course, still important factors in meat tenderness.

You may want to try some of the butter-tender cake recipes using sour cream because the cream usually adds a rich, moist quality.

11 Farm Soil Plans Developed In Winona Co.

LEWISTON, Minn. — Eleven new conservation plans have been prepared for county farmers, according to William Sillman, Winona County soil conservationist.

Farmers are: David Heim, Carl Mundt, Goodwin Boyum, Ed Lehnertz, Conrad Krieder-macher, Donald Maschka, Leonard Heuer, Alton Albrecht, Reinhard Rivers, Henry Tveten and Vernon Feine.

A conservation plan establishes land use on the farm within its capabilities and treating each acre according to its needs for protection and improvement, Sillman said.

During 1964 Sillman's office prepared 36 conservation plans, made six revisions and signed up 63 new cooperators.

In 1964 3,747 acres were laid out for strip cropping, 44 acres of waterways, 4 miles of diversion terraces, 4 miles of field terraces, 31 farm ponds and pits, 5 grade stabilizing structures, 4 flood retarding structures were constructed, 65 acres were prepared for wildlife and 1,875 acres went into woodland protection.

Some Wisconsin Farm Prices Up

MADISON, Wis. — Wisconsin farmers received higher prices on Jan. 15, 1965, than in mid-January last year for hogs, sheep, lambs, wool and all milk, but lower prices for milk cows, beef cattle, calves, and eggs. Farmers received the same price for farm chickens and turkeys as they did a year ago.

Jan. 15 prices of steers and heifers averaged $19 per hundredweight, up 70 cents from the previous month but stayed the same as a year ago. Slaughter cows averaged $11.80 per hundredweight, up $1 from a month earlier and down 20 cents from January 1964. Beef cattle brought $13 per hundredweight, up $1.10 above last month and 30 cents below a year earlier. Calf prices at $22.30 were up $1.80 over a month ago but down 30 cents from January 1964.

Hog prices averaged $15 per hundredweight on Jan. 15, or 70 cents over a month earlier and $1 above a year earlier.

Prices received for farm chickens were estimated at 8.0 cents per pound, unchanged from a month earlier and a year ago. 5 Democrats Attack Budget In Wisconsin

MADISON, Wis., (AP) — Five Democratic leaders in the legislature ripped into the record budget proposed Wednesday by Gov. Warren P. Knowles as a document that falls far short of campaign promises to hold the line on spending.

In a joint statement, the five Democrats accused the Republican chief executive of "duplication and deceit" in submitting the $832.6 million budget to finance state operations for the next two years.

Authors of the statement were three Assemblymen. Speaker Robert Huber of West Allis, George Molinaro of Kenosha, co-chairman of the Joint Finance Committee, and Majority Leader Frank Nikolay of Abbotsford. Lt. Gov. Patrick J. Oucey and Sen. Richard Zaborski of Milwaukee, Senate minority leader. The governor "flooded the television and newspapers of this state with political ads promising to hold the line on spending

$25 Million for New Business Complex Set

ST. PAUL (AP) — A plan for construction of a $25 million complex of business and office buildings in downtown St. Paul was approved Wednesday by the St. Paul Housing and Redevelopment Authority.

Eight new business and office buildings, the tallest 16 stories, are included in the plan for a three block area bounded by Fifth and Sixth streets and by Wabasha and Robert Streets.

Construction of up to four of the buildings is expected to be under way by the end of this year.

and taxes," the Democrats said. "Today's budget reveals that campaign to have been a slick fraud on Wisconsin voters."

An influential Republican, Assemblyman Curtis McKay of Cedarburg, also was critical of the budget message.

"I'm terribly disappointed," he said. "The executive has brought its problems to the legislature for solution. No amount of public relations, no evision and newspapers of this state with political ads promising to hold the line on spending

2 Escape From County Jail At Albert Lea

ALBERT LEA, Minn. (AP) — Two Freeborn County jail prisoners, using a hacksaw tossed to them by an outside accomplice, escaped early today.

Sheriff Everette Stovern identified the escapees as Jerry Bergland, 22, Albert Lea, and Harold Joyce, 21, Minneapolis.

A deputy said the men escaped between 3 a.m. and 5 a.m. while no jailer was assigned to duty. They saved their way through three barriers to make good the escape.

First the escapees sawed the hasp off one cell block door, then the hasp from a gateway and finally one bar from a window leading to the outside from the second floor.

Blankets were tied together to slide to the ground and freedom. Deputies said marks in snow on an entry way roof reaching up to the second floor showed a hack saw had been tossed there. Wire screen over the window had been pried open from inside to retrieve the saw.

Minneapolis Plans Drive on Drug Addicts

MINNEAPOLIS (AP) — City and county officials, educators and businessmen met Wednesday to launch an assault on juvenile use of drugs and narcotics.

Wisconsin Trading Stamp Bill Delayed

MADISON, Wis. (AP) — The Senate trading stamp bill will not reach the floor of that house for at least one more week.

The delay of the bill that would allow Wisconsin residents to redeem trading stamps for either merchandise or cash came from an unexpected source — Sen. Leland McFarland, D-Cudahy, a committee member and one of the proposal's sponsors.

He said he would like to hold the bill in committee so he could obtain additional information about the profits of trading stamp companies and be able to defend the measure better.

Rolvag Named To Committee of Resources Group

WASHINGTON (AP) — Gov. Karl F. Rolvag has been named to the executive committee of the Midwest Resources Association — an offshoot of the Midwest Governor's Conference meeting last fall.

The association's aim is to pool midwestern educational and research facilities and seek a greater share of federal research and development contracts.

Rep. Mark Andrews of North Dakota also was named Wednesday to the committee.

The conference is made up of governors of 12 Midwest states, their 124 representatives and 24 senators.

The association adopted as a priority item a study of alleged rate discriminations against Midwest shippers.

The MRA will be financed through assessments against the member states. Minnesota's contribution is $6,480 of the $100,000 biennium budget.

CALEDONIA, Minn. (Special) — A total of 6,714 patient days in 1964 was reported at the annual Caledonia Community Hospital Association meeting in the conference room of the new 35-bed hospital Wednesday afternoon.

Patient days at the 32-bed nursing home — the former hospital which was converted last year — were reported at 3,983 for the six months it has been open. Three nursing home patients are housed in the hospital at the present time for lack of space in the home, which is attached to the new structure.

Babies born here last year totaled 125. The payroll was $117,601.41, according to Styrk Stenehjem, administrator.

Four directors were re-elected: O. J. Strand, George Schauble, Herbert H. Fruechte and Mrs. B. A. Qualy, all for three-year terms. Walter Thiele was elected a director to replace J. C. Driscoll, who declined reelection. He has been on the board since 1948.

Mrs. Robert Zimmerman and Mrs. William Murphy were elected by the Hospital Auxiliary to the board.

Directors will elect their officers next week. Strand currently is president and Schauble, president.

Simply stated, Science is the continuing search for nature's truth. Simply stated, nobody tells it better than Alton Blakeslee. To be an Alton Blakeslee, one would have to be current with all the fields of medicine; up on logic and mathematics; at home with chemistry, physics, astronomy, biology, geology — not to mention psychology, ornithology, entomology, ichthyology, and every other "ology".

As Science and Medical Editor of The Associated Press, Blakeslee regularly attracts the largest newspaper audience in his field. Author of "Your Heart Has Nine Lives" and twice the winner of the coveted Lasker award, Blakeslee has also won most every other science writing award at least once.

Judging by the standards Alton Blakeslee sets for science writers, few indeed can qualify. Yet The Associated Press has five more such men to cover the field of science for you: John Barbour and Frank Carey in the East, Robert Goldenstein in the Midwest, William Harrison and Ralph Dighton in the Far West.

Who Will Have Inside Road to Title?

By ROLLIE WUSSOW
Daily News Sports Writer

"The team that gets by this one should have the inside track to the title."

So says Rushford Coach Ward Huff about Friday's Root River Conference battle between the Trojans and Spring Grove, both currently in a first place tie with 6-2 records.

The same general feeling comes from Spring Grove, where Coach Dennis Schroeder says, simply, "It's the big one!"

If the first game of the conference season between the two clubs is any indication, this one will be a crowd-pleaser. In that meeting, the Grovers, behind Mel Homuth's 33 points tripped the Trojans 65-58 in an overtime at Spring Grove.

The two teams, which have been in the top spot in the league singly or at least tied for it most of the year, will go to it at 8 p.m. Friday in the Trojan gym.

The local problem for Huff and his cagers is how are they going to keep tabs on Homuth, who seems destined to become the highest scorer in Spring Grove basketball history.

"We'd like not to give him too many (points)," says Huff of Homuth. "It's harder than heck to keep him down, so we'll be satisfied if we can keep him below his average (which is 30 points)."

Homuth had a "below average" night Tuesday in the team's 69-60 win over Houston, scoring "only" 23.

"We'll use a zone in an attempt to stop him," says Huff.

Schroeder rates the Trojans as the "second best team in the district, next to Harmony," and will play them accordingly.

The biggest strike against the Grovers seems to be the location.

"Their gym is smaller than anyone's barring Canton's," chortled Schroeder. "Last year we beat 'em in an overtime. It'll be as tough this time."

Huff had a chance to observe the Lions Tuesday. He saw that he didn't have to worry only about Homuth, but also about Wayne Gulbranson and Lowell Trehus, who both came up with stellar performances.

"We'll have to watch 'em," says a wary Huff. "If Homuth should happen to be down, they could break loose."

Huff will go with an all-senior lineup, a bit taller than the Lions. At Center will be 6-2 Rex Marion, at forwards Dale Olstad, 6-1, and Ed Sandness, 6-3, and at guards 5-11 Terry Westby and 5-10 Vern Bunke.

Attempting to counter-balance the Trojans' superior height will be Homuth at center, Gulbranson and Don Solberg at forwards and Trehus and Ken Halverson at the guard slots. Schroeder feels that Don Rosasen and Rolf Hanson will play key reserve roles.

After Friday's game, only three league games remain on each team's schedule.

"All the eggs aren't really in one basket Friday," says Schroeder. "But the way everybody's been beating everyone else in the league this year, we need this one."

TOWERING CENTER

... Eino Hendrickson, Holmen's 7-1 1/2 center, towers above fellow teammates while grabbing a rebound. Wisconsin's tallest prep basketball player won't be in action Friday because he is ill with pneumonia.

Rockets Eye Game With Lewiston '5'

Hard-luck Lewiston travels to Rollingstone Holy Trinity Friday in one of the area's top rivalry games.

The Cardinals, 3-3 on the season under Coach Curt Peters, have been saddled with the loss of 6-6 Jim Matzke. He is out for the season with a football injury. Then several players are out with the flu and one of Peters' stars may be absent Friday because of another excuse.

Trinity Coach Jack Rader, who saw his team drop a 58-47 decision at Lewiston in the first meeting.

"IT WAS like playing in your own kitchen," jested Rader about the Cardinal court. "We think we'll give them a better game down here."

Peters has Dean Wilde, ordinarily a regular, out with the flu this week, as well as a few reserves. Another starter, Roger Kulack, is due to take a physical examination for a service academy Friday and may not be home in time for the game.

Says Peters about Rollingstone, "they're pretty well balanced. They get pretty fired up at home no matter what the records are when we play there. 'It's a good rivalry. Most of the kids know each other, and things ordinarily work out pretty well.'"

The Rockets will be shooting to fello the Cards for the first time since 1960, when Rader himself was playing for the Trinity outfit.

In an attempt to do this, Rader will start his "kiddie corps," an innovation which the coach has come up with in recent games to combat relative ineffectiveness. The "corps" is made up of three sophomores, a junior and a senior.

The lone senior will be forward Ken Peshon and the junior is Dave Arnoldy, a guard. Sophomore center Dave Mueller, guard Chuck Rinn and forward Denny Fenton will round out the lineup.

For Lewiston, John Ihrke, Jerry Mueller, Ron Kessler and Alan Sommers will go. The fifth man will be composed of either Kulack or Ron Getzlaff.

IN OTHER top tests Friday, Osseo is at Eleva-Strum in the Dairyland and Hayfield shoots for its 15th straight win against Byron at home in the Wasioja.

Kenyon and Zumbrota tangle for a possible second place spot at Zumbrota in the Hiawatha Valley, while league leading Lake City travels to Kasson-Mantorville, currently in fourth place.

Elgin is at Faribault Deaf and Wabasha at Mazeppa in the Centennial. Harmony goes for an outright title in the Maple Leaf against Wykoff at home.

LET'S TALK SPORTS

WATKINS PRODUCTS, INC., celebrates its tenth anniversary of flying Winona athletic teams Monday by carrying the St. Mary's College basketball team to Moorhead, Minn., for a bout with Concordia.

St. Mary's made the first trip back in 1955, a four-game swing to Rockhurst and St. Benedict's in Kansas and to Lewis and Chicago Teachers in Chicago.

Since that trip the Winona firm's quarter-million dollar DC-3 has logged more than 50,000 miles during the Winona State and St. Mary's courtesy flights.

The plane has been pressed into trips north, south, east and west carrying basketball, football, wrestling and baseball groups.

The service—to the best of our knowledge Watkins is the only firm in this country engaging in such yearly jaunts—is a thrill to any team member fortunate enough to have made one of the trips.

Monday when the ship whisks away from Max Conrad Field, a total of 13 Redmen plus Coach Ken Wiltgen and Watkins representative Frank Mertes will be quartered in the comfortable cabin.

THE RETIREMENT of the St. Mary's Heffron Hall gymnasium, it is certain, has caused no tears. The postage stamp court was sadly outdated and even a source of displeasure to Redmen Coach Ken Wiltgen.

It had become a general belief that while tough at home, St. Mary's couldn't win on the road. Also, a loss here gave opposing coaches a built-in alibi. Anyhow, it's over now.

A story by Jim Klobuchar in the Minneapolis Tribune proved that few coaches will regret the privilege of playing on the old court.

"I consider it a monument to my record," quipped Joe Hutton, "that I am going to outlast that terrible old place."

Hutton, it is well-known, had a going feud with the old gym. It should be a source of pleasure for the old boy to know he will be honored in the new field house Feb. 20.

Said St. Thomas' Tom Feely: "You had that cornered feeling. The fans sat right on top of you. Of course, I never really contended the fans influenced the officiating. All I remember is that one year—and you always had trouble reading the scoreboard—I knew St. Mary's was leading by a few points."

"I yelled to the referee how much time was left and he said, 'One minute.'"

"Then I yelled, what's the score, and he said, 'We're ahead by three.'"

It might have been bad, bad, bad, but the old gym certainly was a heckuva conversation piece.

THE SWAMI HAS HIT a midseason slump. After a 13 of 17 night Tuesday he stands with 397 of 534 for .744. With handicaps, the figure is 329 of 534 for .616.

For the weekend:

Eino Won't Play Friday

By GARY EVANS
Daily News Sports Editor

Holmen High School has a gigantic problem. Led by 7-1 1/2 giant Eino Hendrickson, the Dean Uhls-coached Vikings have driven to a 13-0 record this season and stand 10-0 in the Coulee Conference.

Now, fear that Hendrickson somehow might not be available for service because of illness or injury has become reality.

Wisconsin's tallest high school basketball player has a slight case of pneumonia and definitely will be out of action when Holmen plays at Trempealeau Friday night.

On the line in the Bears' tiny gymnasium will be the Vikings' 22-game Coulee Conference victory string that stretches over two seasons and one championship.

Needless to say, the loss of Hendrickson, who is averaging near 30 points per game, is going to be a severe blow.

Not only is the team hampered physically by the loss of its top scorer and rebounder, but the psychological blow will be felt also.

"We scrimmaged Winona last night and looked terrible," said Uhls. "It's hard to say how we'll do without Eino. The boys may snap out of it and they may not."

It is not known how long Hendrickson may be absent.

"He is not hospitalized," said Uhls, who reported his star was examined at a La Crosse Hospital Tuesday. "We really don't know how long he will be gone, but he definitely won't play Friday."

So into Hendrickson's center spot — and sacrificing a foot in the process — will be handyman Ron Anderson, a junior.

At 6-2, Anderson has rotated between three positions this year in addition to backstopping Hendrickson.

The other starters will be 6-5 senior Dan McHugh and 6-1 1/2 senior Ken Olson at forwards and 5-8 Al Knudson and 6-1 Bob Anderson at guards.

"We just have to hope now that the boys don't get too far down without him," said Uhls.

ON THE MEND . . . Joe Namath, Alabama quarterback who signed a professional football contract recently with the New York Jets, rests at New York's Lenox Hill

Hospital where he is recuperating from knee surgery. Doctors called the operation Jan. 25 a success and say Namath should be in shape for training. (AP Photofax)

Maravich's Past Catches Up in 84-74 Duke Win

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

You might say Press Maravich's past has caught up with him.

Maravich was the undefeated North Carolina State basketball coach until Wednesday night when sixth-ranked Duke defeated his Wolfpack 84-74 and took over sole possession of first place in the Atlantic Coast Conference.

Instrumental in the victory was Jack Marin, a junior who played high school basketball in Section 3 of the Western Pennsylvania Athletic League, the same section in which Maravich had coached a few years earlier.

Although Marin came along after Maravich had headed South, the N.C. State coach always has kept in close touch with the rich basketball fields of western Pennsylvania.

Marin put on his best performance of the season, pouring in 32 points in Duke's 12th triumph against two defeats.

"We'd have won without him in there," he was out of this world," said Maravich after he saw his 11-game winning string halted. He hadn't lost since taking over from Everett Case two months ago and had the Wolfpack tied with Duke going into the game.

Marin, averaging 16.6 points a game before the vital ACC contest, flipped in 14 of 17 tries from the field. With slightly more than five minutes to play, State cut the Blue Devils' lead to 70-67, but Marin's jumper triggered Duke to its winning margin.

St. Joseph's, Pa., was the only

Boxing Group Wants Floyd For Title Go

PROVIDENCE, R.I. (AP) — The World Boxing Association has proposed that Floyd Patterson meet the winner of the upcoming Ernie Terrell-Eddie Machen bout for its version of the heavyweight championship.

Tony Macaroni, chairman of the WBA's championship committee, wired the Patterson camp Wednesday night, asking if Patterson were willing to meet the winner within 90 days after the March 5 bout in Chicago.

Macaroni said the winner of the Terrell-Machen bout is committed to meet either Patterson or an opponent named by the WBA. He said Patterson earned the title shot with his Monday night victory over George Chuvalo.

Patterson held the championship twice before losing it to Sonny Liston. Cassius Clay defeated Liston for the championship but the WBA declined to recognize the fight and stripped Liston of the title it originally recognized.

Bullets Prove Celts Can Lose On Home Court

BOSTON (AP) — The proof has arrived at last. The Boston Celtics can be beaten — even on their own court.

The fired up Baltimore Bullets turned the trick Wednesday night, handing the Celtics their second loss at home this season, 122-114. The loss snapped a string of 14 straight home-court victories for the defending National Basketball Association champions.

The victory moved Baltimore to within a half-game of the second-place St. Louis Hawks in the Western Division.

Boston's Eastern Division lead was cut to 10 games over second-place Cincinnati, which defeated Los Angeles 130-99 Wednesday night. The Royals' Oscar Robinson scored 44 points and contributed 11 assists.

In the first game of the NBA doubleheader at Boston Garden, Philadelphia romped to a 116-95 victory over New York.

Detroit whipped San Francisco 116-106 to build up a four-game victory streak for the first time since February 1962.

Beard Leads Hope Classic

PALM SPRINGS, Calif. (AP) — A small army of golfers fanned in four directions today with Frank Beard of Kentucky leading the procession into the second round of the 90-hole, 100,000 Bob Hope Classic.

The 25-year-old Louisville professional — you may recall his remarkable recovery from a sleeping sickness ailment that threatened his career in March last year — had a first round 66.

That was six strokes under par for the Bermuda Dunes Country Club, and Beard held a onestroke lead starting out today.

The 128 pros, each with a three-man amateur team, switched partners and courses today with most of the big names — as well as Beard — playing at the La Quinta Country Club.

Mondovi Jaycee Chapter Planned

MONDOVI, Wis. (Special) — A group of young Mondovi and area men have voted to organize a Junior Chamber of Commerce chapter and affiliate with state and U.S. organizations.

Temporary officers elected at a meeting last week are: Harvey Watts, chairman, and Holis Herrell, secretary-treasurer. They'll serve until March.

Edgar Donich, Larry Burlingame and Charles Jackson were appointed to the by-laws and constitution committee, Robert Stoughton, Wayne Shong and Michael Hayes, ways and means, and Charles Accola was appointed charter night chairman.

The new Junior Chamber will meet Wednesday at 8 p.m. at the supper club. Chairman Watts issued an invitation to all men between 21 and 35 to join, regardless of occupation.

Others attending the organizational meeting were James Lightfoot, Glen Bratberg, Ronald Hemmy and Darrell Dregney.

The group is sponsored by Chippewa Falls Jaycees. Douglas Erbeck, its extension chairman, explained purposes and activities of the Jaycees.

Eyota Industries Unit Discusses Building Sites

EYOTA, Minn. (Special) — Signing of papers for the proposed corporation known as Eyota Industries, Inc., was on the agenda at the annual meeting of the Eyota Commercial Club.

The corporation has $6,350 in stock and subscriptions so far. At a special meeting Tuesday night the group discussed possible building sites. The group hopes to start a factory in the spring. It would be leased to A. C. Podien for the manufacture of ventilation, dairy and related equipment, machinery and parts.

Elected to the club's board of directors were Donald Morrison, Harold Riser and Hans Dietrich, three-year terms; Gerald Kohl and Albert Peris, two years, and Lawrence Larson and Truman Matteson, one year each. The board elected Morrison, president; Dietrich, secretary, and Riser, treasurer.

Pirate Malmen Drop Augusta

COCHRANE - FOUNTAIN CITY, Wis. — Jerry Friemack's Cochrane-Fountain City High School wrestling team stretched its record to 6-2 by whipping Augusta 38-5 here Wednesday night. The only points the Pirates gave up came on a draw at 133 and a decision at unlimited.

The Pirates now rest until journeying to Osseo next Wednesday.

Stocks Move Into New Record Highs

NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market moved further progress into record high ground early this afternoon in active trading.

Gold mining issues rallied on French President Charles de Gaulle's proposal for a new world money plan linked to gold and independent of the dollar and the British pound.

Wall Street's background was brightened by President Johnson's disclosure that the new employment figures will show the jobless rate at a seven-year low.

A generally higher trend prevailed among chemicals, airlines, office equipments, non-ferrous metals, rails, utilities, electrical equipments and mail order-retails.

Steels, oils and motors were generally easy.

Among silver producers, Sunshine Mining lost a fraction and Hecla Mining gained a fraction. Up more than 3 were IBM and U.S. Smelting.

Prices were generally higher in active trading on the American Stock Exchange.

Corporate bonds declined. U.S. government bonds sagged.
